A MAN'S GAME

One of the interesting social phenomena of the 20th Century is the extent to which women have taken over fields previously the exclusive province of the opposite sex—the professions, business and sport. This invasion has been particularly striking in the world of horses. Girls now considerably outnumber men as horse show riders, as pony club members, and as teachers of riding. Girl grooms are replacing men in England and elsewhere. They excel quite as much in quality as in quantity, notably in international competition. Pat Smythe and Carol Durand in jumping, Lys Haertel in dressage, Sheila Willcox in three day events—all on occasion have beaten the best of the men. A number of women have become successful masters of foxhounds.

Two fields of equine sport have so far remained almost entirely in male hands, however—racing and polo. Although there are a few trainers and exercise girls in racing, both sexes generally agree that, under present backstretch conditions, the track is not a particularly good place for women except as owners and spectators.

Quite a different set of reasons keeps polo a man's game, however. Polo is a rugged sport. It is dangerous as well as fast. Hitting a polo ball and manoeuvring a fast charging pony require strength as well as skill, coordination and timing. Riding off an opponent puts it in the same class as football; it is only logical that so many of our high goal players should weigh close to 200 pounds.

The above factors not only give men an advantage, but also make the game more appealing. No mere male, after all, likes to get beaten in the show ring or elsewhere by some sweet young thing with curls. As a teenager, when his tastes and skills are being formed, such a defeat is particularly galling. But give a man a fast, tough game too rough for girls, the kind of a game most men like anyway, and his ego expands. Add the fact that it packs maximum action and exercise into a minimum period easily fixed to suit any businessman's schedule, and it is not hard to see why polo, unlike most of the other expanding horse sports, remains a man's game.

Bowler or Derby

Dear Sir:

I believe there is some doubt as to the origin of the American description of the bowler as a "Derby." To the best of my knowledge no hat has ever been made in the town of Derby (pronounced Darby) — this is mostly an engineering town with strong affiliations towards railways, locomotives, and boilers, etc. My own belief is that the word was coined when the first Earl of Derby held an official post in the United States, and he introduced this headwear, and the hat took his name in exactly the same manner that the black homburg is familiarly known as Anthony Eden. The only difference is, the derby or bowler was a novelty in America when the Earl wore it, whereas the black homburg has been part of our headwear for fifty or sixty years, but it is only the consistency of its being seen on, and photographed in connection with Sir Anthony Eden that we talk about the homburg as an Eden.

Yours sincerely,

Sydney D. Barney

Dominican Republic Polo

Dear Sir:

Since you are giving a certain amount of space to international polo, perhaps it would interest you to know that New Zealand's 32-goal Walker Team flew over here to play with the Dominican 23-goal Ciudad Trujillo Team which is captained by General Rafael Trujillo Jr. Details of the two teams and the three games are enclosed.

When you consider that according to handicapping the New Zealand team is nine goals better, the results are rather astonishing. One might say that the New Zealanders were riding strange ponies or that they were not well-mounted. The first argument could be taken into consideration; as for the second one, I could not help but notice that in some cases they were riding better ponies. The Dominican team owns two hundred polo ponies, most of them imported and all very good, and the New Zealanders were mounted by the Dominican team.

Not being familiar with the international system of handicapping, I am at loss to understand how the New Zealanders were beaten by such a large margin, by a comparative newcomer to the polo game as is the Ciudad Trujillo team. I could not help but notice that two 3-goal players of the Dominican team, General Trujillo Jr. and Salvador Cocco Jr. on many occasions were playing better than the 8-goal New Zealand players.

I feel that the interest of Dominican sportsmen and of the Dominican people in general in this sport is a shot in the arm and I think that next season we will see many international teams coming here to play as well as the Ciudad Trujillo Team going to the States to play in championships.

The progress of General Trujillo Jr. in polo has been so remarkable that I would not be surprised if he is handicapped as a 5-goal player during the next year. Since General Trujillo is Commander of the Dominican Aviation and there-

REVIEW OF THE WEEK

Fabius and Nashua Take The Racing Headlines on Saturday, May 19th

Raleigh Burroughs

Pimlico

The trouble with racing is that some nice people and some brave horses have to lose. Always, the fellow in the gallery finds his rejoicing for the one that won mellowed and moderated by the feeling of sympathy for the one that didn't.

Mrs. Gene Markey, owner of Calumet Farm, has a fine horse in Fabius. Jimmy Jones sent him out in shape for the race of his life; Bill Hartack rode with superior judgment and infinite skill.

The winning team deserved to win the Preakness.

But it meant that Needles — the come-from-behind horse that has brought us up shouting by his electric rushes — had to lose; and that was bad.

It meant that Hugh Fontaine — a competent conditioner who has calmly shrugged off annoying kibitzers, while playing a fine tune on a delicate instrument — had to lose. And Dave Erb, a daring and proficient horsebacker, had to lose. And Jackson Dudley and Bonnie Heath, two young gents who have been happy in winning and have taken their losses without bitterness — they had to lose, too.

Saturday, May 19, was a strange day in racing's history.

It was a Calumet day with regard to winning — the stable took races on three fronts that I know of and if it had anything going at Ascot Park, I'll bet the stable snatched a purse there too.

At the same time, the outfit's greatest champion, Citation, was toppled off the throne reserved for the world's greatest money-winner.

Nashua took over that honor with a victory in the Camden Handicap at Garden State.

But it was Big Cy's son, Fabius, that took the big race of the afternoon.

Fabius took down $84,250 in winning the Preakness, while Beyond and Princess Turia — both representing Calumet — performed the miracle of finishing precisely even in the Acorn Stakes and collected $12,650 each, at Belmont. Trentonian helped make expenses at Garden State Park by gathering in $4,625 in an allowance race.

Fabius' race will be best remembered. It makes the fifth Preakness for the stable. Whirlaway, Pensive, Faultless and Citation were greeted in Pimlico's winner's ring by executive heads of Maryland's government.

The gathering after this year's fancied-up reception enclosure was the densest I can remember.

It's a wonder some politician wasn't kicked. Both sects were represented, though the Democratic Mayor of Baltimore was sort of edged out of things by the Republican Governor and the Republican party leader who doubles in brass as racing commissioner.

Patient Jimmy Jones allowed himself to be photographed in the affectionate embrace of people he didn't know.

Eileen Barton (who would have baked a cake if she knew we were coming) was on one side of the trophy and Marion Marlowe (recently drummed out of the Godfrey corps) was on the other.

Miss Barton hugged Bill Hartack and Hartack kissed Fabius. Doesn't care for cake, I suppose.

The running of the Preakness would have been just another race, if Needles hadn't been in the lineup. After his great closing charges in the Kentucky and Florida Derbies, people got used to seeing him accomplish the impossible.

They were waiting for him to do it in the Preakness and for some exciting seconds it appeared that he might.

But Fabius was ready and was handled perfectly.

Eiffel Blue quickly raced into a good lead and was three lengths ahead of everybody after half a mile. Gold Ace was 1½ lengths before Fabius at this point and Fabius was 1½ in front of No Regrets. The rest of the field strung out with Needles last of nine.

With six furlongs gone, so was part of Eiffel Blue's lead. Gold Ace was moving up, as was Fabius.

Needles began his rush with five-sixteenths of a mile to go, but it didn't seem to be the blazing burst of speed he exhibited in the Derby. It was fast enough, and he passed horse after horse. There was a slight pause bending around the turn, then he picked up again and soon it could be seen that he was going to lick almost every horse in the race.

Straightening for home, Fabius was three lengths to the good, with No Regrets second by a half over Needles and Golf Ace tiring and in fourth place.

Needles plugged on determinedly through the straight, but Fabius and Mr. Hartack had it won. The rider crossed the wire with a broad smile breaking out over his countenance and 1¾ lengths of safety between him and the second horse.

Needles finished a length ahead of W. E. Britt's No Regrets. Needles was the odds-on choice at 3 to 5. Fabius paid an even $7.00 to win.

Winding Way Farm's Golf Ace was fourth. Then came Dino Lozzi's Count Chic, D. G. Arnstein's Eiffel Blue, Mrs. Helen Kellogg's Come On Red, and the Fruehauf trailers, Ratheram and Fleet Peet.

With the prize money from the Preakness, Fabius put his 1956 earnings at $145,050 and his lifetime total at $162,765.

This year, he has won 5 races, been second twice and third twice in 11 starts. The Derby Trial was his only stakes win.

Last year he won 2 races, was second 3 times and third twice in 11 tries.

Fabius (by Citation) is out of *Royal Minstrel's daughter, Shameen. Calumet bred him.

Because Nashua was going to win the Camden Handicap the next day and become the world's biggest money-winner, Pimlico staged the Mr. Fitz Handicap on Friday May 18.

Mr. Fitz, (James Fitzsimmons), trains Nashua.

This was the first running of the 1-3/16-mile event.

North Down's Farm's Momus was the winner by a head over Willowbrook Stable's Bad Conduct. Kennedy-Veale Stable's Marked Game was third and Milford H. Dinker's Alford, fourth.

Momus, coupled with Ovean Lane which finished fifth, paid $10.40. Marked was the favorite.

North Downs Farm belongs to Eric Craddock.

The win was worth $8,150 and gives Momus $35,225 for the year. He has won 4 races, been second in 3 and third in 4, in 20 starts.

Chris Rogers had the mount.

V. Scott trains for North Downs.

Momus is a seven-year-old gelding by Natchez—My Rose, by Snark. Walter M. Jeffords bred him.

Garden State Park

Nashua should have picked another Saturday for registering his record-breaking triumph. On May 19, he had the Preakness competing with him for national attention or would have received yards more of newspaper space and I would have been able to get up to see the Camden Handicap.

Despite these handicaps, Nashua made out all right.

He led all the way in the mile-and-an-eight race and won by two lengths, with Fisherman second, Mielleux third and Galdar fourth. Mr. First was the only other starter.

By hitting the wire on top, Nashua earned $22,750, which gives him $154,950 for 1956 and $1,100,365 for three seasons.

His record shows 19 wins, 3 seconds and 1 third in 24 starts.

The four-year-old son of *Nasrullah—Segula, by Johnstown, has won the Widener and Grey Lag besides the Camden Handicap this year.

At two, he took the Juvenile, Grand Union Hotel, Hopeful and Futurity Stakes. At three, he won the Flamingo, Florida Derby, Wood Memorial, Preakness, Belmont, Dwyer, Classic, his match race with Swaps and the Jockey Club Gold Cup.

Now people are trying to figure just how good he is. They are mentioning Citation and Native Dancer and horses like that, but I haven't heard anybody come right out and say he's just as good as Meshach Tenney still thinks Swaps can whip him and would give a pretty far for another try.

Whatever you think Nashua's position may be among the revered of his breed and profession, you've got to admit that he's quite a chunk of horse, and anything that beats him without a tremendous advantage will be a certified big-leaguer.

As Owner Leslie Combs II has ordered the handicappers not to put more than 130 pounds on his horse, it doesn't appear that anything in business now is going to trim him.

Fisherman was getting nine pounds (he carried 120) and Fisherman is a real good horse.

In case you've lost track somewhere, Nashua was bred by Belair Stud and is trained by the television star, Jim Fitzsimmons.

Mr. Fitz, I am told, was interviewed by Ed Murrow on May 18. The program was blacked out in Baltimore because some egghead thinks Baltimore people like to see the Washington baseball team play. The only advantage in watching Washington perform is that it makes the Orioles look like professionals.

Eddie Arcaro was in the saddle when Nashua set his mark.

Belmont Park

The oddity of oddities occurred at Belmont Park on May 19, when fillies belonging to the same barn dead-heated in the Acorn Stakes.

Mrs. Vernon G. Cardy's Montadet Wins Corinthian Steeplechase Handicap

John E. Cooper

Stunning a crowd of 20,989 half frozen patrons on New York's coldest May 17th on record, Mrs. Vernon G. Cardy's lightly weighted Montadet ran off with the major honors in the $10,000 added Corinthian Steeplechase Handicap. At the final fence, King Commander, the undisputed "king" of the steeplechase division in 1954, carried his assignment of 160 lbs., a head in front of Montadet. The latter had made his bid around the final turn and up to the last fence. After each had negotiated the obstacle, for a brief moment it appeared that King Commander, the 2 to 5 choice in the betting would turn back the upstart, but Montadet was not to be denied, and under Willard Thompson, an apprentice jockey, he drew out with authority in the final sixteenth to score by three lengths. Six lengths back of King Commander, Carthage had little argument for the show award, overtaking Bavaria in the stretch run to best that one by four lengths. Pine Shot, a strong factor for the first half of the two mile test was next, while Amy Robsart completed the field.

In the early stages of the Corinthian, Pine Shot cut out all the pace, with Bavaria closest, and the rest of the field well bunched behind these two. After a complete turn of the field, both King Commander and Bavaria vied for the lead with Pine Shot, but a bobble by that one shuffled him back slightly as Paddy Smithwick took a narrow lead on King Commander at the eighth fence. For the next few fences it was a horse race, with Montadet and Carthage within striking position behind these three. Around the final turn, King Commander opened a daylight lead, while Pine Shot and Bavaria retired in favor of Montadet. Although short on riding experience, Thompson on the winner, rode a canny race. Biding his time, he moved closer to the pace around the turn, came on the outside through the stretch, permitted his horse to settle himself after the final jump, and then won with something in reserve.

In the winners enclosure after the race, John M. Schiff, who had been to the track early inspecting his racing stock, and later attending a National Steeplechase Stewards' meeting, made the presentation to Mrs. Vernon G. Cardy. Strangely enough Montadet had been his property, and Willard Thompson, the winning rider is under contract to Oleg T. Dubassoff who conditions the Schiff jumpers. Last fall the Cardy's badly wanted a representative in Rolling Rock's International Gold Cup, and instructed Burley Cocks, their trainer, to find one. Having ridden for John Schiff many years ago, it was rather natural that Burley wound up with Montadet for the Cardy stable. However, the horse ran into bad luck at Rolling Rock, and several weeks later in the Gwathmey, suffered a serious leg injury. The Cardys sent him home to Canada, and during the spring months this year, Montadet got the feel of hacking through the snow. Well legged up in this manner, he went to Cocks in early March, at Unionville, Pa., where the ex-amateur rider conditioned him for his spring campaign.

While weighted at a mere 137 lbs., Montadet traversed the about two miles in 3:44, not bad time for the mid spring at Belmont.

The steeplechase season in New York opened several days before with a twelve horse field over hurdles restricted to non-winners of $1,000 at the mile and a half distance. Frank Frankel's three-year-old, Fairshot, a winner at Deep Run in early April made a show of his field winning by seven lengths, and full of run at the end, after having had the front end for the last mile. Rose Fete, took the early lead then surrendered it to Fairshot, but was never in danger for this position, with three and a half lengths separating him from Odyssey, while Marso was a neck further back for fourth. Trained by Mrs. C. E. Adams and well ridden by J. Walker, Fairshot impressed as a better than average three-year-old.

The following day, the "Smithwick combine" (Mike the trainer, and Paddy the rider) sprung a mild surprise by bringing Robert Van Horn's Ring O' Roses home in front by four and a half lengths at eleven to one, over the two mile brush course. Landscaping, the public choice, wound up second under Dooley Adams, after appearing a bit sticky at some of his fences. It was a length and a half back to Morpheus for third, while Khumbaba, which led over the final jump, tired in the stretch run to finish fourth, a length and a half further back. This race was run in 3:45½, and the pace which was alternately set by Landscaping and Khumbaba was a hot one all the way for a field of comparatively novice brush horses.

The following day, Wednesday, The Bushranger, a $6,000 allowance race for experienced chasers was run in 3:48½. First across the finish line was Mrs. G. H. Bostwick's veteran Hyvania, but because of swerving and bothering Cap-a-Pie at the final fence, the Stewards took advantage of the newly amended disqualification rule, and placed Montpelier's Cap-a-Pie in the number one spot and Hyvania back to second. In the paddock after the race, there was some humorous discussion as to which lady (Mrs. Scott or Mrs. Bostwick) could least afford the difference in first and second money, namely $2,700. The discussion ended in a dead-lock. Back to the race itself, and it was a good one. Curly Joe got off well, and he and His Boots elected to argue over the pacemaking job with the result that the former gave way to experience at the ninth jump, where a bobble all but lost jockey Riles, but did succeed in loosing the reins. Meanwhile, the veteran His Boots, a foal way back when Hiroshima was front page news, went on his way but the effort proved too much, and around the last turn and through the stretch he was joined by Cap-a-Pie and Hyvania. Coming to the last jump, His Boots with Hatcher in the saddle, had the inside, Albert Foot on the Montpelier jumper was on the outside, while the canny Adams, the "rail" denied him, chose to go inbetween horses. At the last fence, these three were all in the air together, and it was at this point, that Hyvania came over on Cap-a-Pie. Albert Foot made the claim, which incidentally was the first time for him, and the Stewards allowed it. There was little choice for them, although many observers thought Hyvania was the best horse in the race at the weights. Incidentally, Hyvania carried 155 lbs., to the winner's 140 and 133 on His Boots.

Final infield race of the week was a contested claimer over hurdles at a mile and three quarters. Mrs. Ogden Phipps' Antagonizer emerged the winner a few yards short of the wire, carrying 158 lbs., with Dooley Adams accounting for most of it. Two lengths away, Alfred M.

Rose Tree Hunt Race Meeting

Randolph Rouse's Ricacho Wins Feature Timber Race, Mrs. A. J. Smithwick's Crag Winner Over Brush

Chris Wood, Jr.

With Nashua romping to a new equine money mark at Garden State Park, adjacent to the heart of Philadelphia, and Fabius and Needles displaying their wares at Pimlico's Preakness, the 97th consecutive spring session of the Rose Tree Fox Hunting Club fell short of its usual "full house". Some listed officials and many devotees of hunt racing failed to attend the Keystone State's second and final spring meeting held on Saturday, May 19. Despite the absence of many regulars, a crowd of some 500 enjoyed perfect weather and a good day of racing on the club's course near Media, Pa.

The brothers Smithwick (Paddy and Mike) teamed up to account for the featured brush and timber attractions on the six-race program. Riding a heady race on his brother's Crag, Paddy started his double off with a 1-length victory in the Rose Tree Plate. Coming from 4th over the 12th and final brush jump, Morris H. Dixon's *Palaja finished 2nd, a nose to the good of Miss E. S. Bromley's home-bred *Kingale. George T. Weymouth's Chee Oaks attempted to win the brush feature by taking a long early lead. Leading from the first obstacle, the mare under John Knowles, led until the eventual winner reached her over the final jump. Tiring in the uphill stretch, the mare finished 4th, 3 lengths behind *Kingale and 12 in front of Dr. T. U. Cleary's aged Fonda.

Surviving a claim of stretch interference from jockey Deveau, the winner registered a consecutive victory on the Pennsylvania circuit and his 3rd of the year. Covering the "about" 2 miles and 12 jumps in 3:36 over hard turf, the winner picked up 3 points to lead the brush division for the United Hunts' awards with 12 points.

Unable to visit the trophy table when his new purchase, Ricacho, fell over the 5th fence in the Virginia Gold Cup, Randolph Rouse of Fairfax, Va., just managed to accomplish the feat at Rose Tree. Riding the timber topper which won the Deep Run and Middleburg Hunts Cup for his former owner, Mrs. John M. Burke, Paddy Smithwick went to the front of his 3 competitors and led throughout the 3 mile route over 22 timber fences to win the Gloucester Fox Hunters Plate.

Riding a very heady race on his father's Star Salome, Eugene Weymouth rated the winner of the recent Radnor Hunt Cup last in the field of 4 for 11 fences. Bliss Flaccus' *Gold Tar followed in the wake of Ricacho while Mrs. M. Y. Ferguson's Peter Jo was running 3rd. As the latter tired and was eventually pulled up, young Weymouth gradually closed on the leaders. Reaching Ricacho over the 22nd and final fence, Weymouth plied the leather as Smithwick went to work on his mount. In the short run to the finish, it appeared to all in the grandstand that Star Salome had the race by a neck at the wire. However, the judges saw Ricacho's nose at the finish and called the race in that manner, to the amazement of the grandstand patrons, already congratulating Mr. and Mrs. George T. Weymouth. Standing "pat" on their decision, the judges claimed that the angle of the stand gave a false view of the finish to the spectators. *Gold Tar, under Melvin Ferral, finished 5 lengths behind the closely lapped leaders.

Registering 6:08% for the 3 mile timber trip, Ricacho gave his new owner 3 points toward his new scoring in the timber division for the United Hunts' annual awards. The 8 points the gelding earned by winning 2 and running 2nd in one timber race for Mrs. John M. Burke, still rates his former owner leadership in the owners bonus awards, which are not transferred with the horse.

Although Eugene Weymouth failed to get the nod in the featured timber race, he did ride George Strawbridge's Aqua Boy to victory in the Rose Tree Spring Maiden Cup, a 3 mile timber event for non-winners over the demanding obstacles. Taking out a rail over the 13th, Aqua Boy running 2nd to the front-running Theodoric with John B. Hannum, 3rd, in the saddle, closed on the leader in the uphill run to the 22nd and final fence. Over this obstacle, Theodoric led by a neck but failed to jump well, as he tore a top rail out. Slowed down by the mishap, Mrs. John B. Hannum 3rd's 'chaser gave way in the stretch to finish 2nd, 2½ lengths behind Aqua Boy. Showing briefly in front over the 1st fence, H. B. Hanford's Right Hook, under William King, completed the small field to finish 3rd, 8 lengths off Theodoric. By *Rufigi—Aquabelle, the 6-year-old gelded winner covered the route in 6:37½.

Meeting a field he could handle, Miss Mary Rumsey's Tall Mound broke from the maiden ranks in the Glen Riddle Plate, a 1 mile turf test. In a rough-run race, William Mason kept his mount out of trouble until the uphill stretch run, where clear sailing permitted Tall Mound to draw away from the field of 9 competitors and win by 1½ lengths. T. A. Antoine's Hero's Prince saved the place award, just ¾'s of a length to the good of Talbot Albert 3rd on his own Yes. With his rider, George Iverson trying to ride a few horses other than his own mount, Maurice S. S., finished fourth after leading for ¾'s of the race, which was run in 1:49.

Making his second start in this country for owner Arthur E. Pew, Jr., chairman of Rose Tree's race committee, *Dafila captured the Sycamore Mills Plate which closed the day of sport. Away 2nd in the field of 8, F. D. (Dooley) Adams permitted Mrs. Wm. Coxie Wright's French Field to set the pace for a half-mile. When called upon, the 6-year-old gelding by Flamenco—Ellamond drew away to gain first honors by an easy 4 lengths. French Field, under Edward Deveau, held gamely to run 2nd, 1½ lengths to the good of George T. Weymouth's home-bred Eastcor. Favoring the hard going, the import covered the 1½ mile route over turf in 2:33.

The Agricultural Stake, a non-sanctioned event which graduated from the "Farmers Race" classification some years ago, fell to Mrs. W. Crosson's Jerseyville as R. M. Gilpin hustled his mount to a neck decision over Mrs. J. T. Pennick's Street Singer. George Albright's Sir Toro finished third in the "about" 6 furlong race run in 1:07¾.

Iroquois Memorial Steeplechase

P. L. Dent's Jarrin John Takes 15th Renewal Two Course Records Lowered at Nashville Meeting

Campbell Brown

Whatever else may be said of the fifteenth running of the Iroquois Memorial Meeting, at Nashville's Percy Warner Park, the general consensus is that the racing there is getting better and better. There were none of the big and cumbersome fields of other days, made up in part of some very cumbersome horses. Instead, the Iroquois Memorial field brought out six starters, and the secondary brush event, the Frost Hunter, five.

On the other hand, the Hillsboro Hounds, the three-mile timber steeplechase, put seven entries in the field, but this was for a special reason, while only five went to the post in the Truxton Purse, at a mile over turf. The high selectivity of fields extended to the unsanctioned events in the card, except perhaps the Monkey Simon Mule Race, after all, there's little selective, racewise, about a mule.

First sanctioned event in the card, and one in which a course record fell with a perceptible thud, was the Frost Hunter Steeplechase, at about two miles. Here, Guilford Dudley, Jr.'s The American, in a faultless performance under Mr. Charles C. Jelke, romped home ahead in 3:07½, taking down the figure set in 1954 by Thomas H. Bullitt's Open Bid, of 3:12½.

Finishing in order behind The American were C. W. Mussett's Rick Lark, which made most of the early pace under Mr. Howard Tilson, Hi Team, running for R. E. L. Wilson 3rd under Mr. Thomas Rankin; and Local Run, under his new owner, Mr. Edward S. Bonnie. Harry M. Rhett's Port Call, badly bumped over the first jump, lost Mr. M. O. Buder, whose injuries may have affected his subsequent performance in the running of the Iroquois Memorial later in the day.

The American's victory was also a personal triumph for a new addition to the trainers' ranks. This was Mr. Peter Cole, farm manager for the Dudley establishment. After the horse had, according to reports, put seven riders in a row in the hospital with his high jinks on eastern jumping courses, and been released by more than one experienced trainer, Cole took him over. He rode him himself for the Chickasaw Hurdles at Germantown, in a manner which caused thoughtful observers to wonder, and turned him over to Mr. Jelke for his latest effort and first win in 17 starts.

The timber event in the card, The Hillsboro Hounds, at about three miles, brought seven entries to the starter. Of these, three were 200-pounders, running for a trophy for heavyweights, plus such crumbs of the purse as might be left by lighter-weighted horses. Most of the pace was set here by Mr. C. C. Jelke, with his wife's Big Breeze, who went ahead after the second fence, and was only headed in the short stretch run by Mr. Austin Brown with Burford Danner's Jamaica Boy. Second place slipped out of Mr. Jelke's grasp at the scales, where it was discovered that he had shed some lead during the festivities, and this put Mr. Paul Gramer into the place spot with his Tranquille. Lying fourth to the last jump, as he had for practically all the race, was Mr. George Sloan II, with his Tredyla. However, this one fell and stayed down at this fence, so third place went to Mr. C. C. Adams, also winner in the heavyweight division with his Local Corner, followed at some lengths by Mr. Howard Tilson on Guilford Dudley's Box Pleat and Mr. Jack Bass, Jr., with his Spain's Armada. The time was 5:35.

The Truxton Purse, at a mile over turf, with five entries, went to the Mississippian Silver Valjean, owned by Bill Brown and Bill Drane, with Mr. J. E. Sensing up. Guilford Dudley's Foxy Fighter was the principal contender, making most of the pace and showing the way until just after the top of the stretch. Behind him, in order, came William D. Hail's Mountain Blue, with Mr. Austin Brown, Walter N. Foster's Agilon, With Mr. Richard Jones and Hugh Walpool's Princess with Mr. J. Haley.

Regardless of all other considerations, including the fact that she was able to finish only second in the race which she had won twice before in succession, it must be said to her credit that Ginny Bug made Jarrin John run faster than he ever ran before in his life, and possibly broke her own track record as well. Jarrin John lowered the previous record (1947) of Bluish of 5:39½ by one full second, and Ginny Bug was a half-length behind him. Her best time as a winner was 5:48½. The selective nature of the five entries can best be judged by the prediction of an experienced observer that there would probably be four horses abreast over the last jump, with the fifth not far behind. Heres Why, in the number one post position, had won the McFadden Memorial and the Midwest Purse this year. Starting next to him was the other Dudley entry, Lady Roxana, while next to her was Burford Danner's Ambition, which had won the Appalachian Hurdles at Southern Pines, while next came Norsud, whose spectacular finish behind Heres Why in the McFadden had further warmed the breath of fame which had preceded him from his point-to-point performances in the east. On the outside, in order, were Ginny Bug, winner in 1954 and 1955, and thirsting to retire a trophy, and Jarrin John, winner in 1952.

During the early running, Heres Why and Norsud made all the going, with Jarrin John making his way forward by stages, and Ginny Bug beginning to turn on the steam. Lady Roxana was trying with all she had to stay in the race, and having fair success. Just before reaching the water jump (8th), Heres Why dived into the hedge along the

The Clubhouse Turn

Nashua to Appear at Keeneland

If all goes well, Nashua will make his final public appearance at the Keeneland fall meeting, John W. Hanes, one of the principal stockholders in the $1,251,200 horse's syndicate, indicated last week. The great son of *Nasrullah—Segula, by Johnstown, will then be retired to stud at Leslie Combs II's Spendthrift Farm, Lexington, Ky.

Chinn Sues Railroad Over Horse

Col. Phil T. Chinn, owner of Old Hickory Farm, Inc., Lexington, Ky., last week sued the Cincinnati, New Orleans and Texas Pacific Railway Co. for $4,000 claimed as deterioration in the value of a horse shipped from Lexington to Phoenix, Ariz.

The suit set forth that the horse, Adjutant, valued at $5,000, was shipped Jan. 20 with a freight bill of $283.00. The railroad, it was alleged, "failed to transport the horse by the nearest and most direct route, failed properly to care for said horse, failed to deliver same within a reasonable time and failed to permit the consignee of said horse to remove same from train upon his arrival." As a result, the suit charged that the horse reached his consignee in "an unsound condition," unfit for racing or training; and was then worth "not more than $1,000."

Krehbiel Dies

George Krehbiel, 65, Turf Editor of the Detroit News, died last week at Louisville four days after suffering a cerebral hemorrhage.

At any meeting Mr. Krehbiel covered, it was standard operating procedure for local radiocasts or telecasts, whenever a foul claim caused a long delay, to have the announcer whisper to his assistant: "Get George."

Once he showed up before the microphone, the regular announcer could lean back and rest his tonsils without a worry about what to say during the wait.

Mr. Krehbiel formerly raced a small stable, which included Golden Man, a good handicapper around Detroit. One of the veteran scribe's favorite yarns concerned the time he was broadcasting a $10,000 handicap with Golden Man in the field. The owner was giving his usual call of the race until the horses reached the stretch with Golden Man in front.

"Ladies and gentlemen," Mr. Krehbiel told his listeners breathlessly, "there's only the stretch between me and $10,000. The heck with the broadcast, I'm gonna root for my horse! Come on, Golden Man!!"

Not only did Golden Man win, but the listeners were delighted with this intimate glimpse into the excitement of racing.

A regular at Keeneland since its opening, Mr. Krehbiel had long waged a one-man campaign for a restroom in the pressbox. One was finally installed last year and solemnly dedicated to him. This spring he was delighted to find on its door a plaque reading:

Delaware's Jumping Races

The Board of Stewards of the National Steeplechase and Hunt Association has approved Delaware Park's request to conduct brush and hurdle races during the period of June 11 through June 29. The NSHA also appointed George Brown steward, with James Park and S. Bryce Wing visiting members of that association during the Stanton track's 33-day meeting, May 28-July 4.

Delaware

Bryan Field annual Delaware Park press party on May 27, was called the "Don Ross Steaks."

Washington Racing

Statistics from "The Washington Horse" show that racing in that state has steadily increased since 1935 when 63 horses in 87 wins earned a total of $36,140, or an average of $573. Last year 452 horses accounted for 479 wins for $531,466 — an average of $1,180. Herb Armstrong, in 1955, was the leader in money and races won, also having the leading number of winners. C. J. Sebastian ranks second in money won, with Frank W. Brewster third. However, Brewster is second in races won and in winners, with Sebastian third.

The Chester Cup

The Chester Cup, a two miles and a quarter handicap, is known to most Englishmen as "The Chase for the Cheeses," because each of the owners of the first three horses are presented with a 50-pound Cheshire cheese. Racing started at Chester in 1540 and the cup itself was instituted in 1824.

"Chasers at Belmont"

Arriving at Belmont Park with their steeplechasers were Burleigh Cocks from Maryland, Trainer "Rabbit" Dabson, and Elizabeth Bosley with six from her farm in Maryland.

Keeneland Association

Louis Lee Haggin II, Woolford County Thoroughbred breeder and owner, was recently elected president of Keeneland Association, at that organization's annual meeting.

Haggin, immediate past-president of Keeneland Race Course, fills the position left vacant by the death of Guy A. Huguelet. Haggin also was named to the Board of Directors.

A. B. Gay, A. B. Hancock, Jr., Gayle Mohny, and W. H. Courtney were re-elected first vice-president, second vice-president, secretary, and treasurer, respectively.

Re-elected as directors for a three-year term were Leslie Combs II, A. B. Gay, Keene Gurnee, Horatio Mason, Thomas Piatt, Thomas A. Rankin, and Warren Wright, Jr.

John Davis, an attorney, was elected to the Board of Directors to fill the vacancy left by the death of Victor K. Dodge. Davis was named for a two-year term.

The Board accepted the resignation of W. Arnold Hanger as a director, then named Hanger and Lucas B. Combs, as honorary life directors. They join Hal Price Headley, T. H. Kirk, and L. B. Shouse, Sr., who were accorded that honor at last year's meeting.

Keeneland Association's Board consists of 21 members, with three classes of seven persons each. The class of 1957 consists of Haggin, W. H. Courtney, Gayle Mohny, Alfred Nuchols, Collis Ringe, and P. A. B. Widener, III. The Class of 1958 includes Davis, Charles Asbury, Carneal Kinkadee, Douglas Parrish, Mrs. Parker B. Poe, Tollie Young, and A. B. Hancock, Jr.

The Board of Directors heard a report of the Keeneland spring meeting, just concluded, from Duval A. Headley, Race Course president. The Board also adopted a resolution expressing the deep sorrow at the death of three of its members during the last year — Huguélet, Dodge, and William R. Embry, Sr.

Rose Tree Oldest Racing Fixture

Ever since 1860 there has been held every year a race meeting under the auspices of the Rose Tree Fox Hunting Club. This is said to be the oldest, continuous racing fixture of any on this continent.

Juvenile Winner for R. S. Clark

Arriving on the course with so tall a reputation that he was made a 7 - 4 on chance for his first outing, Robert S. Clark's two-year-old Home Run lived up to his home reputation when taking the Clifton Stakes at Thirk.

Going smoothly into the lead inside the last furlong, he won easily by three lengths.

A well-bred colt, Home Run is by Derby winner Arctic Prince (due in the States this summer) out of Whirlaway's daughter Javotte, and is the first foal of his dam who was bred from the same owner's One Thousand Guineas and Oaks winner Galatea II. — P. T-C.

*Cromis' Flight

When Mr. G. M. Bucknam's newly acquired *Cromis flew from Australia to Los Angeles, he set a record for the longest flight ever undertaken by a racehorse. He was sent from Sydney via Singapore, Calcutta, Karachi, Tripoli, Rome to London. After this 84-hour trip, *Cromis rested for four and a half days before continuing to New York and thence to California.

Cefan Row

Mr. George A. Garrett, the popular former U. S. A. Ambassador to Ireland, is owner of Cefan Row, also a winner at the Curragh, and has several yearlings at the Maddenstown Stud, of which he is the breeder. He has decided that they will remain in Ireland to be trained by M. C. Collins.

Totalizer Sold

Universal Products, Inc., controlled by Louis Chesler, Toronto financier, has purchased the capital stock of the American Totalisator Company, Inc., of Baltimore. George Gardiner, also of Canada, is Chesler's associate in the control of Universal and M. Mac Schwebel, a New York attorney, is its president.

Although control passes to Universal Products, the official announcement of the transaction reveals that actual operating control will remain in the hands of Harold Robinson and Oscar C. Levy who are co-executive vice presidents and general managers, and Richard I. N. Weingart, chairman of the board of the General Register Corporation and the inventor of the daily double machine.

The American Totalisator Company was organized almost 25 years ago, installing its first "tote" board at Arlington Park, Chicago, on June 26, 1933. It has since expanded to include almost every major track in the U. S., Canada and Mexico.

Starting Bar

George Dunn's new steel starting bar, recently introduced at Pimlico has proved so worthwhile that the management has authorized its use at all starting points except on the turf course.

Mereworth Mare's First Foal

Seville, winner of the 1953 Summer Stakes in Canada, recently dropped her first foal, a chestnut filly by Count Turf, at Mrs. F. W. Gillet's Mereworth Farm, Lexington. The daughter of Unbreakable—Jubilesta, by Insko, has been bred to *Daumier.

Mereworth bred Seville, sold her for racing purposes to Stafford Farm, and bought her back as a broodmare prospect.

Provocative's First Stakes Winner

Has to Be, recent winner at Churchill Downs, is the first victor sired by Provocative, who stands at Leslie Combs II's Spendthrift Farm, Lexington.

Bred by Elmendorf Farm and raced by Mrs. Emil Denmark, Provocative was unplaced only 11 times in 42 starts. The half brother, by Roman, to Ken took the Hyde Park Stakes, Hot Springs, Southland, King Cotton and Illinois Owners' Handicaps. In both of the latter events he set new track records: 1:40 $\frac{1}{2}$  for a mile and 70 yards at Oaklawn Park and 1:42 $\frac{1}{2}$  for 1 $\frac{1}{8}$  miles at Hawthorne.

*Balaklava II's Kin

Caddis F. Morriss, owner of Hamburg Place, Lexington, has a yearling half sister, by Signal Light, to *Balaklava II, the *Royal Charger colt who recently scored impressively in the $10,000-added William Penn Stakes for George F. Strickland, at Major John Alexander's farm, County Carlow, Ireland, where the dam, Michma, is being boarded. The Michoumy mare also has a suckling by Denturius.

In 1954 Mr. Morriss bought Michma and her then suckling colt by *Royal Charger through the agencies of John Alexander, the Major's son and now Manager of Samuel M. Look's Hillandale Farm, Lexington; and James G. Henderson, Lexington breeder. At the Hialeah Sales in February, Mr. Morriss sold *Balaklava II, named for a Crimean battlefield, to Mr. Strickland for $11,000.

The colt is a half brother to the 1952 Irish Oaks captor *Five Spots, now owned by Millard A. Waldheim's Bwamazon Farm, Inc., Winchester.

Our Babu

A portrait of the stallion Our Babu by Nina Colmore appears in color on the cover of the Spring Issue of The British Racehorse. Our Babu is currently standing at the Jonabell Stud, Lexington, Ky.

Jacnot Purchases

Coleman J. Kelley has returned from a trip to England, France and Ireland where he purchased two four-year-old colts for Jacnot Farm. They are L'Asterisk who distinguished himself as a three-year-old in France by winning the Prix Royal Empire and Handicap de Cloture, and El Zahbi, bought in Ireland, who at three won the Lancashire Stakes and the Ballysax Stakes at the Curragh.

Irish Vet

Ireland's Turf Club veterinary Maxie Cosgrove is visiting America. He plans conferences with Drs. Proctor and Reed and visits to Kentucky stud farms.

Calumet Stallions

Calumet Farm's Fabius, second to Needles at Churchill Downs after ticking off one of the fastest miles clocked in recent Derbies, underlines a remark Calumet's Trainer Ben A. Jones once made about his sire Bull Lea: "Letting an outside mare be bred to Bull Lea is like hitting yourself in the head with a hammer." quoth Jones, and his observation seems to be equally applicable to Ponder, sire of Needles and another of the stars in the Calumet Stallion Barn.

Bennett Foal

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bennett have reported the loss of their mare Dora Dear due to a delayed hemorrhage after foaling a sturdy colt by *Ambiorix. Dora Dear, a half-sister to Prince Simon was bought at the Belair dispersal. The colt is coming along nicely on a nurse mare.

Panaslipper, much discussed Irish Derby winner, will not race again, and will take up stud duties at the Irish National Stud next year. Recalled, is that the Irish Government refused £80,000 for him offered by Neil McCarthy of Los Angeles, recently. — P. deB. O'B.

Tulyar Foals For U. S.

Best looking Tulyar foal we have seen is the filly thrown by Star Telegrams. Both are the property of Barclay Stables, U. S. A. and were bought in Ireland, last year. A Tulyar colt foal out of Gateen Bawn goes to Colonel Larry MacPhail of Maryland. It is understood that the foal will be for resale at Saratoga, in August. — P. deB. O'B.

Best Filly

Best three-year-old filly in Europe, and probably in the world, and this is first-hand, is Marcel Boussac's Apollonia, unbeaten and unextended in all her races. She is by Djebel out of Corejada, best filly in Europe in her year. — P. deB. O'B.

Grey Topper

Tailpiece: By current Saville Row prices, a Grey Ascot Morning Suit will set one back about $300; a mere Black Morning Coat, about $150; a Black and White Striped Trousers about $70. I would hate to have to try and pay for the feminine equivalents, for the Royal Ascot Meeting! — P. deB. O'B.

HORSE SHOWS

Emma Willard

Ideal horse show weather greeted the first show of the season in this area with the Emma Willard Junior show open only to riders under 22 years of age. Many schools as well as private individuals were represented. Hutchinson Stables of Closter, N. J. horses and riders took the top honors of the day. Among the jumpers were two horses from Albany, N. Y. owned and ridden by Elizabeth Climenko and Pam Kovary. They came up from My Play Stables in Guilderland. Miss Judy Rowe and her sister Susan from the Three Sisters Stables, Troy, did very well in the horsemanship classes. Schools represented were Smith College, St. Agnes of Albany, Vincentian, Troy, Lansingburgh, LaSalle Institute, Bethlehem Central, Catholic Central, and Russell Sage.

Rice Farms

Father Melton's being chairman and the show being a benefit for St. Charles Hospital for Crippled Children must be responsible for the pleasant day (in an otherwise miserable spring) enjoyed by the Rice Farms Spring Horse Show.

Miriam Duffy's horses, entered in three divisions, not only accounted for the three championships but the corresponding stakes as well. First to be pinned was her green horse, Portland.

There was quite a few nice quality working hunters showing, which accounted for the wide distribution of blue ribbons. With Miss Duffy in the saddle, Tourist Encore counted the stake as his only win but he had placed consistently in all his other classes to nose out Saxon Woods Farm's Naute Mia for the tricolor.

In the jumper division with manager Dave Kelley in the saddle, the Duffy entries claimed four out of five blues. The aptly named Leprechaun won the P. H. A. and the knock-down and out while the veteran campaigner, Andante, was first in the open and the stake. The crowd is most happy to see Leprechaun win because he then performs his bag of tricks for their amusement and amazement, including sitting down, laying down and playing dead. Leprechaun was awarded the championship over Andante.

Children's entries accounted for some 300 of the 700 total, a healthy indication for the future, especially since so many of them were in novice, maiden classes, etc. It seems strange to refer to a junior horse champion as a veteran campaigner but that is the case with Ronnie Catalano's owner-ridden Tango. Reserve after a ride-off with two owner-ridden combinations, Sandy Rice's Colleen Og and Michael Page's Kid Boots was Fiona Field's Glory San, a horse to be reckoned with in any hack class.

The odds on favorite in the horsemanship classes barely had time to compete since she had a plane to catch to school. However, Sara Ann Cavanagh was able to wait just long enough to gain the championship just as she had the other three classes in which she competed. Reserve award went to Wendy Hanson who qualified by placing second in the AHSA medal behind Miss Cavanagh.

Sugartown

Points were so well distributed in the hunter division that going into the stake class it was anybody's guess who would emerge champion. Raymond Burr's victory on Kimberton King assured Kimberton Hills Farm the tricolor.

With both hack classes counting full value, a total of seven horses and ponies were tied for the children's championship with five points each. After hacking off the tie, Helen Wickes' Blue Hill (winner of the pony hack) was awarded the tricolor.

The only jumper class was won by Betty Bosley on her well-known hunter-open horse, The Clown. Reserve went to a horse that follows hounds all winter—none other than Louisa Neilson's owner-ridden Robin.

Preparatory School Polo

John H. Fritz

While college polo has made a comeback since the end of World War II and the annual intercollegiate tournament has been held yearly since 1947, no such revival of interest in polo has developed in America's preparatory schools. Prior to the war a number of Eastern schools had polo teams, and from 1928 to 1941 there was an annual Interscholastic Tournament under the auspices of the Indoor Polo Association for a cup donated by George C. Sherman. Lawrenceville School won the cup 10 times during the 14 years of interscholastic competition and presently retains it in the school's trophy collection. It was during these years, while prep school boys, that such college and polo club stars as George C. Sherman, Jr., Phil Iglehart, Bud Rose, Jules "Tiger" Romfh, and Billy Ylvisaker got their start in the game.

1954-55 season Culver played in the Chicago Indoor Low-Goal League which they won with a 7-2 record. This past season saw games against the University of Virginia and a number of Mid-West clubs and another 7-2 record for the year. Both losses this year were games decided in overtime periods. Eight troopers were awarded varsity letters at Culver this season and an additional nine received reserve letters.

In the Southwest the polo tradition is maintained by the Judson School of Phoenix and the Southern Arizona School of Tucson, bitter rivals in interscholastic competition. Polo has been a major sport at SAS since the school's founding in 1930, and the polo field there was dedicated in 1932 by Louis B. Stoddard, then chairman of the U. S. Polo Association. In 1937 an Arizona Prep School

Cadet Tom Folsom of Culver tells Jim Dunlap to "take it" in the Franklin Hills game.

16-20 of the school's 70 boys out for polo most of the season. In addition to the varsity and JV games against Judson, a six game round robin intramural tournament was held at the school. SAS pres-

Of the schools which once competed in these tournaments, however, only Culver Military Academy in Indiana continues to include polo in its varsity sports program, and Culver is the only preparatory school today that belongs to the U. S. Polo Association and plays regularly against college and other member teams of the Association. Polo has been a varsity sport at Culver for over 30 years since it was started there shortly after World War I by cavalry officers attached to the Black Horse Troop, the school's famous mounted unit. During these years Culver has produced a number of outstanding young players who have gone on to star at colleges such as Cornell, Yale, and Princeton or in polo clubs throughout the country. Many of the polo enthusiasts in the Middle West today developed their interest in the sport while Culver troopers.

Using selected mounts of the Black Horse Troop's stable of 136 horses, Major Louis J. Stone, Culver's polo coach, has a string of 30 ponies, some of which are seasoned and some green. During the League was organized with a challenge trophy donated by Russell B. Fairgrieve, headmaster of SAS. While the other Arizona schools which once competed in this league have given up polo, Judson and SAS still battle for this trophy yearly on a 2 out of 3 game basis. SAS has won the trophy 11 times (including the past 3 years) and Judson five times. This year the competition was extremely keen with the decision not being clear until the final moments of the third game in the series.

Since 1950 the JV teams of Judson and SAS have competed for one of Cecil Smith's battered helmets. This trophy is presently also in the hands of SAS which has won it four years in succession although it took an overtime period this year in the final game to keep it on the SAS trophy shelf. Until New Mexico Military Academy gave up polo in 1954, SAS also competed against that school.

A request for details of the polo situation at Judson was not received in time for publication, but at SAS, where John J. Walsh is the coach, there were from ently maintains a string of 20 ponies, and its players range in age from 11 to 19.

A newcomer to the ranks of prep school polo teams is that of Valley Forge Military Academy. Again few details about the team can be given since my re-

Why Can't More Schools Have Polo

When you ask the above question the average person will answer, "It's too expensive." Nothing is farther from the truth if the school has a horse program. At the Southern Arizona School for Boys in Tucson, Arizona, we have about 55 horses. About twenty of these are used for polo, the same number for calf roping, and the rest for trail rides and jumping. About 35 of these horses are owned by the boys themselves and the rest by the school. Some of the school horses are hired by the boys, who are then responsible for their care and feed bill.

The horses we use for polo are no more expensive than the average riding horse because we make our own ponies. This training is usually done by the polo coach, who turns them over to the boys when they are ready.

Each boy on the polo squad has one horse, his own or one assigned from the school string. These animals are used for two chukkers on each of the five practice days. We do not use whip or spur during these practice periods except just before a match game. The reason for this is twofold: the boys learn horsemanship and the game more thoroughly when they have to hand ride their mounts, and the horses stand the eight month polo season much better when their riders aren't trying to get everything out of them by constant drive. The rider soon learns what his mount has on tap and how to use this to advantage. He pays more attention to team work and less to horse racing. When we play in match games and, of course the practice periods immediately before these games, the riders who need whip and spur use them.

When we play away from home we do not take our own horses along but use those furnished by our hosts and the same applies when they visit us. As we play four chukkers of six and one-half minutes each, the game demands only sixteen playing ponies. Each side uses eight for the two chukkers of the first half and swaps across the board at half time. All polo squad members pool their ponies for a game so that a team member will be playing four horses in a game, only one of which is his own. As a result, the only expense the polo-playing boys have over that of the trail riders is the cost of their mallets.

So I ask the question that titles this article. If any one would like to see the above polo routine in action, just visit us any time during the school year in Tucson, mid-September to mid-May. Every recreational period will show you a well-populated polo field.

At the end of the season we have intramural games, usually about four or five teams with the seniors refereeing, and these are real competitions, for each team captain, (previously elected by the squad), has to take turns picking players until the whole squad is in the line-ups. And when these are over the squad is clamoring for an East-West or some other new division that will keep the field in action. Oh yes, the boys like polo. So do I, or have I said that before?—J. J. W.

quest for information had not been answered in time for me to meet "The Chronicle" deadline. But Lt. Col. Eugene Fischer, Director of Equitation at Valley Forge, has started a team which plays in the Philadelphia area. The school is building a riding hall, and when that is completed, undoubtedly more will be heard from Valley Forge.

National 20-Goal Tournament — 1956 To Milwaukee

Bill Briordy

The Milwaukee Polo Club is planning another big season of high goal polo. The U. S. Polo Association has awarded the National 20-Goal Tournament to Milwaukee for the third consecutive year. Over the past few years Bob Uihlein, Jr., captain of the Milwaukee Polo Team, has brought most of the high goal polo players and their respective teams to play at Uihlein Field. Such stars as Cecil Smith, George Oliver, Harold Barry, Dr. Billy Linfoot, and Del Carroll, just to mention a few, have played here.

The 1956 season will open June 10 with Paul Butler's Oakbrook Team, headed by Cecil Smith. Games will be played every Sunday throughout the summer, and the season will close with the National 20-Goal Tournament, which will start about the 12th of August and run through August 26. The Milwaukee Team will be captained by Bob Uihlein, Jr., at the No. 4 spot, Billy Ylvisaker at 3, Jack Ryan at 2, and Robert Walters at 1.

Interest in polo is running high in Milwaukee and there are a number of younger players who are being developed and will no doubt be heard from in the not too distant future. The attendance at the Milwaukee Polo games has shown a steady increase over the past few years, averaging some five to six thousand per game.

A second field has been built, adjacent to the present one, and it is hoped that it will be ready by the time of the 20-Goal Tournament.

Bishop Hollow Polo Club

The sound of horses hoofbeats drumming down the field, the click of the stick against the willow root ball heralds the approach of the polo season on the V. F. W. Field, Bishop Hollow Road in Newtown Square, Pa.

Under the direction of Hervey M. Swann, the various members of the Bishop Hollow Polo Club are preparing for the coming season.

Among those that are hard at work are, Jack Ehmer, formerly of the Ivory Polo Club, Detroit, Michigan, and Gulf Stream Polo Club of Delray, Florida, Jack Whiting, Al Busch, George Flanagan of the 103rd Polo Club, and Harry Price a newcomer, Hervey Swann who led the Blue Hill Farm team to three National Indoor Championships (aided by Walt and Pete Hayden), Gil Miller and Ben Forney of the Harrisburg and Lancaster Polo Clubs. In addition to these men, the Valley Forge Military Academy team, under the training of Lt. Col. Eugene A. (Bud) Fisher will use this field. Polo playing is another activity of Major General Milton G. Baker's Military Academy.

Among the others who are trying out for the Bishop Hollow Polo team and Jim McQuen, Dick Handly, Sam Mink and Bill Prichard.

In addition to the home games, games are scheduled with the Blindbrook Polo Club, Huntington Valley Polo Club, Bethpage Polo Club from the New York area, Washington Polo Club from Washington, D. C., Youngstown Polo Club from Youngstown, Ohio at the present time.

The season was opened on May 13th.

Cornell Intercollegiate Champs

James Shuttleworth

Polo was started at Cornell in 1920 under the auspices of the R. O. T. C. program, but with the dismounting of the United States Cavalry it has become a separate organization under the management of a student club. Since 1945 Professor Steven J. Roberts, D. V. M. has been donating his coaching services. This year the club is composed of three squads, Freshman with eight members, Junior Varsity with 8 members and the Varsity consisting of Captain Albert Mitchell rated at one goal, Camilo Saenz at two goals, Alberto Santamaria at two goals, Fred Rice at three goals and Mike Geronimus at one goal. Santamaria, Saenz, and Rice who constitute the starting team are the highest rated of any inter collegiate players.

Almost entirely self sufficient the club supports itself through gate receipts and much hard work by the members, Captain and managers. Owned by the Polo Club, the ponies are personally cared for by the members; a group of polo playing Ithaca businessmen have generously helped by donating mounts and compensating the club for the use of its facilities in their own games.

At present the club maintains sixteen ponies for the everyday practices and Saturday night games of the team. Due to a lack of time and mounts the practices are held in two shifts; the varsity practices on Tuesday and Thursday while the Freshmen practice on Wednesday and Friday. This year the team had a highly successful season playing 21 games and losing only two, both of which were lost to Alumni and coaches respectively. Among others the team played Yale University, The University of Virginia, Kentucky, Pittsfield, Chicago, Milwaukee, and Long Island all of which fell before the Big Red squad. In preparation for the defence of the Inter Collegiate Championship, an inter squad game between our Columbian (South America) and Hawaiian contingents was played and proved to be one of the most exciting games played throughout the year.

For the Intercollegiates, the team with its seven top ponies, went to New York. In the finals the Big Red Team, encountered one of their biggest rivals, Yale, and for the second consecutive year Squadron A saw the Cornellians completely dominate their opponents by a score of 21 to 3. Alberto Santamaria, the Varsity's number 3 man, received the award for the Outstanding Player in the Intercollegiates. Once again the tournament trophy returned to Ithaca.

Oak Brook Polo Club

Oak Brook Polo Club, Hinsdale, Illinois, will open its current season on Memorial Day as has been the practice the past few seasons. Some twenty-five club members will participate in practice games on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays in preparation for the Sunday Match-Games during June and July. It is expected that the Central Circuit Championship will again be held during the latter part of July.

High goal teams from every section of the country are expected to arrive in Oak Brook the latter part of July to get ready for the National Twenty Goal Championship in Milwaukee and the U. S. Open Championships that again will be held during August and the first week of September. Oak Brook Polo Club will be represented in these High Goal Tournaments for the fourth consecutive year by Captain Paul Butler and the 10-goal veteran Cecil Smith.

The defending 20-goal and open champion Detroit Triple C's, captained by Don Beveridge, with the famous Barry brothers Harold and Bill, have sent in their reservation for arrival early in July.

Bert Beveridge and his Diamond "B" Valley team also will be arriving on the scene in July. Bert's son, Bobby, nineteen year old Texas University student, and George Oliver the popular nine goal tournament player are expected to be the backbone of this promising team.

Brandywine, runners-up in the last two U. S. Championship Open Tournaments, have indicated that this is their year. Captain Jimmy McHugh and Ray Harrington, the seven goal Texas star, have played most of the winter at Gulf Stream Polo Club in Florida in preparation for the National Tournament.

During a recent visit to Aiken, South Carolina, Paul Butler was given to understand that members of the Meadowbrook Club are also journeying to Chicago to participate in the events. These include Allan Corey, Jr. — 9 goals, Pete George Bostwick — 8 goals, and Dev Mildburn, Jr. — 6 goals.

Oak Brook is also hoping for second year entries from Bob Uihleins' Milwaukee Polo Club and Captain Jack Ivory's famous Detroit Rangers.

Jack Cartusciello, the nationally known polo announcer, will again be on hand to report play by play action. During the past three years Jack has announced the Monty Waterbury Tournament at Meadow Brook Club, Long Island, New York; East-West Match, Delray Beach, Florida; Texas Open Championship, Vernon, Texas; Circuit Championship Games at San Antonio, Texas and Wichita, Kansas; Penrose Goal Cup at Colorado Springs, Colorado and the U. S. Open Championships at Oak Brook. With its six or seven fields active, Oakbrook is one of the nation's outstanding polo centers. Many new stable arrangements have been added in order to accommodate the teams wishing to participate in the national tournaments. The indoor players of the Chicago Avenue Armory consider Oakbrook as their summer headquarters as well as the other organized teams mentioned above.

ENGLISH POLO

London — British polo for the season of 1956, if the schedule is any criterion, looks healthy. In both big and small ways all the clubs appear progressive, what with an increasing number of beginners plus aggressive schedules and not always the same old faces battling each other every week-end. There are a host of visiting foreign poloists coming which is good, but already many neophytes are at work endeavoring to learn the rudiments of the game.

The big news is the inauguration of The Cowdray Park Gold Cup which for this year is limited to teams between 17 and 20 goals. This handicap limitation or regulation is to be varied each year according to circumstances and conditions. Viscount Cowdray, the indefatigable one-armed polo player, and his committee have initiated this cup (it will be played for each year, so is not a one-year stand) and hope to draw annually at least a couple of visiting foreign teams. This cup, which by the way is by invitation, is entirely a Cowdray Park Club event and has nothing to do with the Hurlingham Polo Association which is the counterpart of our U. S. Polo Association. It starts July 15th with the finals on Sunday July 29.

Ponies from New Zealand and The Argentine are already on their way so that makes two visiting teams. Under the aegis of Rao Rajah Hanut Singh an Indian team may turn up. Paul Butler was invited to bring a Chicago side, but evidently the word is NO. Too bad as they would have had fun and got a lot of fine polo.

Even if only the New Zealand and the Argentines come it will be good. There will be an England team (but not called England) plus the fact Maj. Archie David will unquestionably produce a team, what with him having "Tico" and Louis Lalor playing with him this year. These Argentines have played here several past seasons. Boyd Gibbons of Silver Leys Club has three visiting Argentines (un-named as yet) coming to play this season, hence they will unquestionably get into another team. Arthur Lucas of Woolmer's Park Club always has some "visiting firemen" for the season so something will probably be produced from there.

In all then it looks like anyway five and possibly six teams in this Cowdray Gold Cup. We forgot to mention that Rubirosa is itching with an idea of bringing a continental team.

The possibility of an Indian team is an interesting one. The Indian government has granted such a side 14 "lacs" (roughly $40,000 dollars) for pony and other transportation to and from India. The ponies to come, with the exception of Hanut Singh's, which he keeps here anyway, would be "troop horses". An ex-Indian Cavalry officer not long back from there tells us, "Don't worry about the word 'troop' horses — these are more than adequate ponies. "Then fixing us with a beady eye into our own American eye he remarked, "All that money — and they get Marshall Aid." We agree. The funny thing is they cannot definitely get a team together.

If the Indian "troop horses" do come they will bring (count 'em) 17 syces for 20 ponies. Of course that is a typical Indian system of one groom per pony. In contrast the New Zealand ponies — 24 of them — are on their way and the latest word here is "with two of our substitute players as grooms". The New Zealanders also want no stabling here at Cowdray — just a place to bring the ponies in for an evening feed, then out they go to pasture again.

These New Zealand ponies are going to be an interesting thing. They invariably play in snaffles and are kept as above. People late from "down under" tell me these ponies can run like stink, do the job without drawing a breath, but cannot turn quickly. In New Zealand it is flat out on fields where the ball runs. What happens on wet and slow English grounds remains something to look forward to.

Despite all this influx and excitement the main basis of polo here will still be the 12-goal tournament. The Duke of Edinburgh has moved the center of his own operations from Cowdray to Windsor. Smith's Lawns which were re-started as polo fields last year are in great use now and a practice ground added. "The Blues" of the Household Cavalry, with a fairly strong as well as interested contingent of polo players, is back from the Suez and stationed at Windsor. Under the leadership of Lt.-Col. Gerard-Leigh they have quite a lot of players. One of them is "Toby" Balding, eldest son of Gerald Balding. Maj. Archie David of Henley has moved his club and glorious string of 40 ponies to Windsor so that spot will be busy and formidable.

Those lovely fields in Cirencester Park will be played on again this season but exactly what their situation is since the unfortunate death of Alistair Gibb last year is not known.

At Cowdray Park there will be some quite hot 12-goal teams which should show great sport:

Cowdray: Hon. Mrs. Lakin, Lord Cowdray, Col. Peter Dollar, John Lakin.

Ratanada: A. Nother, Charlie Smith-Ryland, Hanut Singh, Robin Wilson. (This team has to locate a minus goal player).

Mariners: Robert de Pass, Alec Harper, Maj. Gen. David Dawnay, Comm. Mat Maunder.

Polo Cottage: Fred Withers, Gerald Critchley, Stretton Dixon, Douglas Riley-Smith.

There are enough left-overs from this lot to produce a sixth team which could make trouble for anyone when they start to make war on May 5th.

Ponies have been so short here since the war that it was really news the Ascot Hotel sales were almost entirely filled with made ponies. The estate of Alistair Gibb sold his; Col. Billy Whitbread put up four; and there were others. Top price was roughly $1,200 but that is a good price here in these taxation days. And the average was — lets say decent.

A good and interesting season comes up.

WORLD'S HIGH GOAL POLO PLAYERS

Considering the fact that out of the many thousands of players, there have never been more than a couple handfuls of 10 goal players in the entire world, at any one time, and rarely that many, it is not surprising to find that there are only 3 or 4 countries with players handicapped at over 7 goals . . . and this out of a total of some 30 polo playing countries.

The reason for this is not so easy to explain since it certainly does not seem to depend on the total number of players in a given country. Argentina for instance, has close to 10 times as many handicapped players as the United States and yet in 1952 the U. S. had 18 players handicapped at 7 or more (3 at 10 goals) whereas Argentina had only 16 (with no one rated at 10 goals). This year the U. S. has swelled their number of high goal players to their all time record of 21. Then again, New Zealand is an example of a very small country with players numbered in hundreds instead of the thousands as in Argentina, and yet, this autumn they could boast of having as many as 16 players with handicaps of 7 or more. — E. ## CALIFORNIA POLO

Evelyn Hill

The 1955-56 polo season has been another highly successful one in California. The Santa Barbara Polo Club, which has been leased by Mr. Leo Hulseman, appears to be the Pacific Coast stronghold of the galloping sport. The season officially got underway on October 16th with the playing of the National Inter-Circuit Championship. This tournament, marked by spills and thrills, was a contest between the Oakbrook Shamrocks, Woodside, Dallas, and the Broad Acres team of Norman, Oklahoma. The finals between Woodside and the Shamrocks was one of the most hair-raising contests seen on the Santa Barbara field, with California's Woodside emerging victorious by a score of 7 to 3. Next came the National 12-Goal tourney with teams from Oakbrook White Swan, San Francisco, and Oklahoma. This time the White Swan team from the State of Washington walked off with the trophies by defeating Oakbrook 7 to 2.

As the Santa Barbara season continued, players arrived from all over the Western United States and from Calgary, Alberta forming a roster of about thirty players on hand for games played six days a week. Regular Sunday match games drew good crowds from the local population as well as from the host of winter visitors to the Channel City. Among visitors heard to comment on the excellence of Santa Barbara polo were a former officer of a Lancers regiment with the British Army in India and a Canadian Olympic Equestrian competitor. A regular attendant at all games was retired club manager Harry East. Mr. East's many friends welcomed him back to Santa Barbara after a six months sojourn in the British Isles where he coached many of the up and coming English players and served as polo judge at the Dublin Horse Show.

Towards the end of the season, two additional tournaments were presented. The Serena 6-Goal Tournament was captured by a team from White Swan, Washington. White Swan was a strong contender in all tournaments played during the season; much credit is due the veteran Herschel Crites for the consistency and excellence of his play as well as his generalship. Also, congratulations should go to Maurice Hitchcock who, playing his third season of polo, has made such remarkable strides.

The Pacific Coast Intra-Circuit Championship was won by the San Francisco Crescents when they eked out a 9 to 8 victory over Long Beach. The Crescents, winning virtually every game they played, were the strongest team to appear on the Santa Barbara fields this season. They boasted an eight goal man in the person of Dr. Bill Linfoot. Linfoot was by far the outstanding player seen in California this season. He is well mounted, quick and aggressive, and a beautiful stick man. Along with Vic Graber, who played fine polo this season, Linfoot presented a formidable obstacle.

Among players who showed marked improvement during the season were Rufus Hayden, who rode well at number one position, and Jim Cross of Calgary, Alberta. The Santa Barbara Polo Club has done a splendid job of encouraging amateur players from all parts of the West, and has done its best to dispel the false idea that polo is a game limited to wealthy playboys.

In the field of indoor-outdoor polo, the desert spa of Palm Springs enjoyed a busy season. Week-end games were presented at the Polo Stadium from January to March, and drew teams from San Bernardino, Beverly Hills, La Jolla, and Palm Springs as well as several independent teams from all over California and Arizona. It has been announced that a regulation outdoor field is now ready for use, and devotees of desert polo are eagerly looking forward to some fine polo.

In the Los Angeles area, polo is being kept alive at the Will Rogers Polo Field in Santa Monica. Although no tournaments have been played, games are scheduled twice weekly throughout the season. Due to limited stabling facilities most of the players van their mounts in from the surrounding area. It seems particularly fitting that polo is still played in the shadow of the ranch house that the late Will Rogers loved so well. Since the ranch is now a State Park, many visitors are attracted and much interest has been shown in the games. On the whole, one would say that polo is far from dead in California.

Polo In The Southeastern Circuit

Jack Cartusciello

The Gulfstream Polo Club under the leadership of co-managers Don and Bert Beveridge provided some of the best winter polo seen for many a year. Its handicap roster included Cecil Smith — 10; Stewart Iglehart — 10; Alan Corey, Jr. — 9; George Oliver — 9; Harold Barry — 9; C. Buddy Combs — 8; Michael Phipps — 8; G. H. Pete Bostwick — 8; James McHugh — 7; Ray Harrington — 7; Bill Moyer — 7; Philip Iglehart — 7; Robert Uihlein — 4; Tom Healy — 4; Pedro Silvero — 4; John Armstrong — 4; Don Beveridge — 3; Billy Wayman — 3; Bob Beveridge — 3; Bert Beveridge — 2.

Some twenty players representing 120 goals put on high goal polo every Sunday from January 1 through April 8. Practice games were held every Tuesday, Thursday, Saturday and match and tournament games on Thursday and Sunday. Some 60 games were played using three grass fields and stable facilities for 146 polo ponies.

Four teams took part in the J. Arnold Carter Cup — Detroit, Brandywine, Gulfstream and Chicago. Chicago defeated Detroit in a thriller, 10-9, Gulfstream beat Brandywine 13-3 and in a very hard fought game Gulfstream came out on top with a 5-2 score.

The highlight of the season was the first annual East-West Game sponsored by the Delray Beach Chamber of Commerce. Eight of the country's high goal

Squadron A Winner Of National Senior Indoor Championship

Bill Briordy

Herb Pennell's penalty shot ten seconds after the sudden-death overtime period began enabled the Squadron A trio to top the New York A. C., 14 to 13, in the final round match of the National senior indoor polo championship tournament at the Squadron A Armory on Saturday night, April 28. The April 28 twin-bill at the New York Armory completed the 1955-56 indoor season.

Aided by a 3-goal handicap, Squadron A raced to an 8-0 lead within the first five minutes of the match. Dr. Clarence C. (Buddy) Combs, back in action after sustaining a bone-jarring fall from his pony the previous week, lived up to his ten-goal rating.

Buddy turned in a bang-up job as he stroked ten of his team's markers in a match which saw the New York A. C. match their opponent's three-goal output in the fourth chukker to knot the count at 13-all.

It remained for Pennell — he rode with Phil Brady and Vince Rizzo — to come through with the "winner" in the sudden-death extra session. Riding with Combs on the New York A. C. side was Billy Ylvisaker, a Chicagoan who formerly starred for Yale, and the hard-riding Zenas Colt.

Brady and Rizzo each hit four goals for the champions, while Pennell made three. Colt scored two goals for the Winged Foot riders, while Ylvisaker hit one.

In a preliminary game on the April 28 program, the Brandywine trio, headed by Joe Schwartz's 7 goals, turned back the Farmington (Conn.) Polo Club, 13 to 8. Ray Harrington tallied four of the Brandywine goals.

The hard-riding Huntington (L. I.) Polo Club completed a "hat-trick" in indoor play this season when it rode off with the honors in the final of the Al Parsells Memorial tournament. Riding with Schwartz, Vince and Joe Rizzo, Huntington defeated the Long Island Rough Riders, 12 to 3.

Schwartz, who hit six goals, connected for three goals within the first two minutes for the victors. Joe Rizzo's defensive play restricted Herb Pennell to two goals. Vince Rizzo directed the attack in fine style. He got three markers, while Joe made two.

Earlier this campaign, Huntington won the National junior title and the Sharman Memorial competition.

On April 21, Squadron A gained the final of the National senior play by turning back Brandywine, 14 to 8, in a match which saw Phil Brady lead the way with 7 goals. Billy Mayer made 6 of Brandywine's markers. Walter Nicholls made 5 goals as the Winged Foot trio checked Long Island, 11-5, in an exhibition.

players took part making two of the highest rated polo teams seen in the United States since 1939. East — M. Phipps — 8; Philip Iglehart — 7; Stewart Iglehart — 10; Pete Bostwick — 8; total — 33. West — Ray Harrington — 7; Cecil Smith — 10; George Oliver — 9; Harold Barry — 9; total — 35.

Cecil Smith was high scorer for the west with six goals. Stewart Iglehart and Pete Bostwick each scored three goals for the east. Some 6,000 spectators saw the west win 11 to 6.

The Boca Raton club polo team used a one goal handicap to win the Boca Raton Club cup 9 - 8.

Following the Boca Raton Tournament the annual Spectator Cup tournament was held, three teams entered on a handicap basis — Delray, Brandywine and the defending Chicago team. In the first round Brandywine gave Delray a five goal handicap and with a six goal outburst in the first chukker were able to hold on to their lead to win 12 to 10. The finals brought together Brandywine and Chicago. Both teams played a tight defensive game as the score showed a three to three tie at halftime. It was Ray Harrington on two very brilliant cut shots who provided the margin and a win for Brandywine.

The Arthur Vining Davis cup was the last tournament held at the Gulfstream Polo club for the season. Delray defeated Boca Raton 15 to 5 to win the Arthur Vining Davis Trophy. Ray Harrington scored 8 goals for Delray.

The Palm Beach polo team twice defeated the Miami team, the first time by a score of 9-4 and the second time, 5-4. Then the visiting Ranchers beat Palm Beach in an exciting "sudden death" period, 5-4. On April 1, Palm Beach avenged itself against the Ranchers, defeating them 10-5. The Palm Beach team closed its season with a narrow victory over Blind Brook, 3-2. An outstanding player was Robert Wickser, who amassed a handsome total of goals scored, his best game being the last one against the Ranchers when he accounted for six goals.

The Palm Beach polo club staged a drag hunt for its members; visiting hounds and staff members from Golden Bridge Hunt abetted this diverting endeavor.

N. Z. Polo Players in England

Joyce Wellwood

Following closely on the visit of the New Zealand team playing at Mexico City, will be a team playing in England, at the invitation of Lord Cowdray. This is not an official team representing New Zealand, with all expenses paid, as in the case for the World Gold Cup series; but some of the expenses is being shouldered by Lord Cowdray, who takes over the responsibility of transport and feed for the ponies, plus accommodation for the grooms once the party arrives in England. The players, however, transport themselves to and from England, and find their own accommodation while there.

This International Tournament is limited to teams with an aggregate handicap ranging from 18 to 24, and the games are to be played on Saturdays only, possibly taking three weeks to complete.

The ponies, numbering between eighteen and twenty travel on the Sham Savill cargo vessel, "Persic", and expect to arrive May 22nd, via Panama.

Roughly speaking each pony will cost about $560. to send.

But all the ponies are to be sold in England, where those interested in polo are anxious to get some new bloodlines. An auction sale is to follow at the end of the season. Most of these ponies are Thoroughbreds or near Thoroughbreds, the dams of the latter tracing back to outstanding families in early polo, quite often to imported ponies from India. For instance one of Sandy MacKenzie's mares to be taken to England, traces back to a mare belonging to the Strang family, three of whom were in the Oroua team which won the Saville Cup three years in succession, beginning in 1898. This blood has been put to a Thoroughbred four times, and the present mare, Stella, is as near perfect a polo pony, as any player would expect ever to get.

The players are No. 1 Derek Glazebrook, Hawke's Bay, handicap 3; No. 2. A. F. Mackenzie (Sandy), Hawke's Bay, handicap 6; J. G. Wilson (Hamish), Rangitikei, handicap 6; and Tony Kay, Kihikihi, handicap 7. The head groom is No. 1 player for Hawke's Bay, Jack Masters, handicap 7.

Derek Glazebrook, No. 1 in his late twenties, comes of a family particularly interested in racing. His father, who died last year, had a private trainer, as does T. C. Lowry. One of H. Glazebrook's horses won the New Zealand Cup, one year, with Catterick Bridge, and it was his horse, Coaltown, who won the Coronation Cup, the year Her Majesty the Queen was in New Zealand. Derek has played for the Hawke's Bay Junior team, mostly, and he was a member of the victorious Hawke's Bay team, which won the Junior national title in 1952.

New York Area Polo 1955-1956

Bill Briordy

The Huntington (L. I.) Polo Club accomplished a rare "hat trick" in indoor polo play during the 1955-56 season completed recently at New York's Squadron A Armory.

When the Huntington trio of Joe Schwartz, Vince Rizzo and Joe Rizzo captured the honors in the Al Parsells Memorial tournament, they capped one of the most successful campaigns ever enjoyed by a team at the New York arena.

Aside from the Parsells competition, Huntington rode off with the National junior championship and the annual Sherman Memorial handicap play.

The National senior championship was retained by a Squadron A side of Phil Brady, Herb Pennell and Vince Rizzo. Last year, Brady — he's president of the Squadron A Polo Club — rode with Jack Ivory of Detroit and George C. Sherman Jr.

Squadron A, thanks to Herb Pennell's sudden-death overtime goal, took the senior crown by topping the New York A. C., 14 to 13. Billy Ylvisaker, a Chicagoan who formerly starred for Yale, Dr. Clarence C. (Buddy) Combs and Zenas Colt formed the Winged Foot side.

The senior final saw Combs, only ten-goaler indoors, turn in a superb performance. Combs, who had been injured in a fall from his pony only a week before the match, lived up to his rating by hitting ten of his team's goals.

John Rice, who was referee of the game, called a crossing penalty on Colt shortly after the overtime period began. Pennell, crossed by the hard-riding Colt, sent home the winning goal from 25 yards out ten seconds after the sudden-death chukker started.

The players forming the Huntington team in its victory in the National junior final were Fred Rice, Vince Rizzo and Colt. They turned back the Joy Farms of Milwaukee, 9 to 8, in a keen clash. Swinging mallets for the Joy Farms team were Richard Hanke, Billy Stevens and Don McCarroll.

Huntington had Vince Rizzo, Abe Wagner and Ray Koch as its riders in the team's one-sided 16-to-6 success over the Long Island Hurricanes in the final of the Sherman Memorial play.

Cornell University's team successfully defended its national intercollegiate championship by crushing Yale University, 20 to 6. Cornell's margin of victory was one of the widest ever scored in the history of the intercollegiate play at Squadron A.

Camilo Saenz, with nine goals, topped Cornell's scorers, although a teammate, Alberto Santa-Maria, was voted the outstanding player of the game. He received a trophy from George C. Sherman Jr., vice-chairman of the United States Polo Association. Saenz and Santa-Maria rode with Fred Rice. Pete Jackson, Joe Williams and Mike Poutiatine were Yale's riders.

Only one outdoor title of importance was decided in the New York area during the 1955 season. The National 12-goal championship was retained by the Farmington (Conn.) Polo Club by checking the Blind Brook Polo Club, 8-5, at the Blind Brook Club, Harrison, N. Y.

The triumph was a signal one for Farmington, which had Bill Crawford, Zenas Colt, Frank Butterworth Jr. and Al Mar-

New Zealand's 1956 Savile Cup Tournament—The third time proved lucky for the Kays of Kihikihi when they won this year's Savile Cup, emblem of New Zealand polo. Tony Kay, at back, was the real star of the match. Their defeat of the Morrinsville team by 6 goals to 5 was no easy matter as this last mentioned team included two players chosen to go to Mexico for the New Zealand's International polo team, G. Spence, No. 1, and R. Douglas, No. 3.—E. P.

AIKEN POLO

Jack Ivory

Aiken, founded in 1886, is one of America's historic polo centers, the training ground of many brilliant stars. Its Silver Anniversary, marking the 75th polo season will be celebrated next winter. Whitney Field, the oldest polo field in America today, will be the scene. It is in the center of a race track surrounded by deep pine woods. Its turf affords the most excellent footing and drains with remarkable speed. On one occasion, I remember Whitney field completely underwater — as one vast lake on which a sailboat race could have occurred; yet the following day — polo as scheduled on the finest footing found anywhere. Completing the field arrangements of the Aiken polo club are the three powder-house fields. Two are regulation in size while a six hundred foot stick and ball field adjoins.

To the late Mrs. Thomas Hitchcock, Sr., goes much of the credit for the inspiration and leadership for the enduring foundation of horse activities. Mr. Fred Post and his son Billy Post were the bright spot for polo. Mr. Post established himself in Aiken in 1911. In 1942 they added stimulus to race horse training in Aiken. Mr. Bill Gaylord, as a teacher and referee, a man of principle and integrity did much to guide Aiken polo throughout the years.

1955-1956 Season

Greatly assisting the beginning of the season was the Brandywine Polo Club from Wilmington, Delaware. Top poloists, in Texan Ray Harrington and Chicago's own Billy Mayer — and Brandywine's polo leader, Jimmy McHugh provided Aiken's Club with real stellar attractions.

The tally for the series provided a win for both clubs, the rubber game being rained out. Brandywine edged Aiken to take the coveted Francis P. Garvan trophy. Aiken's roster was comprised of Pete Bostwick, Dickie Santamarina, Lewis Smith and Seymour Knox, Sr. Brandywine mounted Harrington, Mayer, Powell and Polo Manager Jack Ivory. During February balanced team combinations aggregating 20 to 24 goals were highlighted by poloists Pete Bostwick, Seymour Knox, Sr., Northrup Knox, Lewis Smith, Mike Wacker and Jack Ivory as a nucleus.

The Associated Clubs

Meadow Brook was represented by Pete Bostwick — 8 goals, Alan Corey — 9 goals, U. S. Polo Ass'n. president Devereux Milburn, Jr. — 6 goals, Polo Ass'n. secretary Henry Lewis — 4 goals and Charles Leonard at 3 goals. Most of these poloists make Aiken their winter headquarters.

East Aurora, a suburb of Buffalo, was represented by Seymour Knox, Sr., Northrup Knox and Lewis Smith. They were joined by Howard C. Fair of Unionville, Pa., for a three game series. Mr. Fair played excellent polo in the series.

The Detroit Ivory Rangers were well represented in Aiken. Ranger Captain Jack Ivory joined the club as manager and player while teammate Mike Wacker stayed throughout the season. Jack Ivory played several games at Columbia, S. C., before the official opening in Aiken. The father and son combination of Mac and son Jack Stefani spent several weeks in Aiken. Richard Gibson and Bob Peterson completed the delegation from the Ivory Polo Club of Detroit.

Harbor Hills of Columbus, Ohio, sent a fine group to Aiken. Walter Shapter and Bo Baker were the mainstays with Otis Harris and Frank Harris joining the activities and making a fine showing.

Other visiting player in the Aiken spotlight were R. E. I. Wilson of Wilson, Arkansas, president of Memphis Polo Club, and Dr. Ed Kennedy, President of the newly-formed Cincinnati Polo Club. Carlton Beal from Midland, Texas, greatly assisted polo operations coming such a great distance. Jules "Tiger" Romfh came from North Carolina one Sunday afternoon and played spectacularly.

Aiken completed thirteen games before the public on Sunday afternoons at 3:30. During the season a total of 52 games were played. Many of the old-timers from that area said that polo was better attended than at any time in Aiken's history.

The combination team of the Triple C's and Oakbrook vs. Aiken was the biggest drawing card.

Shamrocks Score 15 to 13 Victory Over Ranchers

St. Patrick's day was a good day for the Shamrocks polo team. Even the horses' hooves were painted green and the leg wraps were also green. Two sons of the Emerald Isle led the scoring for their respective teams — Pat Connors for the Shamrocks and John Casey for the Ranchers.

The game was tied and untied several times during its' duration and was as close a contest as has been seen this year at the armory. The Shamrocks had to fight for the win and really played a splendid game. Ernie Lambesis followed Pat Connors in scoring for their team. Ernie has put in a splendid performance every game this year and is considered a valuable member of the team — although on St. Pat's day the name was Ernie O-Lambesis, assisted very ably by George O-Cokinis, and Joe O-Jiambalvo.

Casey sparked the Ranchers and turned in some spectacular individual play for his team all through the game. Bud Rouse handled the three or back position well and did his utmost to prevent the Shamrocks' attack, but the Shamrocks were not to be stopped on St. Patrick's day and came up with the win and a most exciting six chukker game. Final score: Shamrocks 15, Ranchers 13.

Ranchers Win Last Game Of Chicago Indoor Season

The last polo game of the 1956 Indoor Season at Chicago on March 31st was seasoned liberally with injuries and fast action. Bud Rouse was hit over the right eye and required three stitches to close the wound. Both Jack Ryan and John Casey injured their legs on the wall during the slam bang game in which the Ranchers beat the Hornets.

John Casey did the major share of the scoring in the game and also for his team. Jack Ryan and Paul Smithson shared scoring honors for the Hornets.

The season in Chicago was thoroughly enjoyed by all those many fans who regularly turn out to see the finest Indoor Polo in Mid-West America. Polo is gaining in popularity in this area, but only after a long post-war struggle to popularize the game. The competition from other spectator sports and attractions is tremendous, but polo has weathered some crucial years. The single six chukker game has proven a good stimulus, and the games have been fast and closely contested for the most part.

The Knights won every game this season and thereby are representing the Mid-west in the Twelve Goal Tournament in New York. Not losing a single game the whole season for two years in a row is a record of which they can be proud.

Billy Stevens who played center for the Knights, won the individual high scoring honors by having totaled fifty-nine (59) goals in five games. — N. J. S.

enholz as its riders. Bill Westerlund, Bob Ackerman, Tom Glynn and Jack Crawford rode for the Blind Brook side.

Weekly Sunday matches were staged at Blind Brook and Bethpage State Park, L. I., throughout the 1955 outdoor campaign, and both clubs enjoyed bang-up seasons. Also, arena polo was conducted at Huntington, L. I., with success.

There was no high goal polo conducted at the Meadow Brook Club's new layout on Jericho Turnpike, Old Westbury, L. I., since it would have been too soon to risk damaging the comparatively new fields.

The possibility is strong that high goal polo will once again return to Meadow Brook this year. If so, then polo fans will see many of the country's standout stars performing on Long Island once again.

Polo in South Africa

Evelyn Prescott

Polo got its start in South Africa early in the 1890's when British regiments were quartered there. It gradually spread to civilians throughout Transvaal, Natal, East Griqualand, the Orange Free State and Basutoland. In 1925 His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales paid them a visit and played in Basutoland and Natal, presenting them with a cup which is now played for annually by the provinces.

At present H. R. H. the Duke of Edinburgh is patron of the South African Polo Association which includes more than 40 clubs and over 500 handicapped players, the majority of players being farmers from cattle raising and horse breeding districts. Polo is much less expensive for them than it is for the city dwellers. The ponies used now are practically all Thoroughbreds from the many South African racing establishments.

But, there is one big disadvantage for a South African when he visits elsewhere and that is the playing fields. At home they only have a couple polo fields with green grass, all the rest being hard and fast with dirt or dry grass. This means that their style of hitting, lifts the ball very little and whereas a topped ball will get somewhere on their fields, it gets nowhere on Argentina's slower grounds. Of course this difference works both ways, but to a lesser degree. For instance, former 9 goaler Jose Reynal, who it will be remembered played for Argentina against the United States in 1932, played again for Argentina this past season in South Africa and was unable to do his best till he got on their grass field at Durban. The first four matches were played on dry fields, three of which were won by S. A. teams and only the last one for the Peron Cup was played on green grass. The South Africans were decidedly at their worst here.

Other members of the Argentine Team, besides Reynal included Wyndham Lacey, nephew of the famous Lewis Lacey who incidentally, is still playing a strong game and has retained a high handicap through the years, though not as high as his 1923 to 1931 ratings when he had the distinction of being Argentina's only 10 goal player.

Horatio Baibiene and the 20 year old Andino Grahn were on the South African team as well as 7 goaler Gabriel Capede-pont . . . but of these Baibiene appears to be the real prodigy. He is only 21 years old and is already rated at 6 goals which sounds like another Winston Guest.

Rhodesia's International Polo

Though Rhodesia has had visits from many provincial polo teams, as well as teams from Kenya and the Argentine, 1955 saw the first visit by a South African side. Until 1954, the Rhodesians had never succeeded in defeating an inter-provincial team, so their first victory over the Orange Free State that year and their subsequent first international win over the Argentine side (which they mounted), clearly demonstrated the remarkable progress polo has made here since the war.

Early in May of 1955, the Rhodesian 21-goal team, composed of R. O. C. Townsend, J. Steyl, G. R. Morris and R. Draper, set off on a six week tour of the Union of South Africa. In the Basutoland Championships, Rhodesia went down to the Ficksbery side, eventual winners of the Open Championship, and in the Natal Championship lost the Championship by one goal.

Last September South Africa played against the Rhodesia 'A' selection for the W. D'Arcy Cathcart Trophy (Mr. D'Arcy Cathcart has been President of the Rhodesian Polo Association since its formation in 1947). Originally this was to be 'open', but at the last minute it was decided that a better game would result if it were played on handicap. The South African team of Messrs. I. Dougal, D. McRoberts, C. McNab (Captain), and A. Goodman, added up to 15 goals whereas the Rhodesia team totaled 19 goals in handicaps. Rhodesia's victory by 11 goals to 7½ was therefore the more impressive for having been played on handicap.

This was not the only defeat suffered by the South Africans. The 1955 Ladies' Championships resulted in a Ladies side visiting from South Africa and another victory for Rhodesia.

After September the intense heat makes play impossible for the ponies and following this the rainy season makes it too wet for play until April.

The Union of South Africa has some advantages over Rhodesia; they have more than double the number of polo clubs and ten times as many high-goal players. All the same, one must remember that it takes just one good team and now that Rhodesia has it, the South Africans will have to look out for their laurels.

New Zealand's Second Polo Game With Mexico

Evelyn Prescott

The performance of New Zealand's team in their second game against the Gracida brothers was a bit disappointing to those who had anticipated greater improvement over the previous week.

Tim Doublas, playing the No. 3 position for New Zealand, tore some muscles in his back during the third period. He had suffered a similar injury a month ago in New Zealand, and the strain of overreaching for a ball, renewed the trouble. It is doubtful that he will be able to play again during the remainder of the team's tour. Wynne Sherratt took his place and the game proceeded.

New Zealand's one goal came from a penalty shot taken by team Capt. Ron Walker in the fifth period, and popped in by Gordon Spence.

Spence did some experimenting with snaffle bridles during this game. He rode two of the Mexican ponies in these bits, on the theory that they would "swing" better, New Zealand style. One was a fast, chestnut which Gordon had been unable to either pull up or swing properly in a curb the previous Sunday. This time he seemed quite pleased with the mare in a snaffle and played her in two periods. Three of the New Zealanders were using somewhat shorter, stiffer mallets in this game, and though it was an improvement, there is no doubt that they still need a great deal of practice with them.

Final score: Mexico 9; New Zealand 1.

fore keeps a very busy schedule, his improvement is all the more to his credit.

Now that the International Fair is running smoothly and all our hotels are open, more time will be given to the improvement of horse racing down here. As I wrote you before, I believe that this will be done in the near future.

I feel that American breeders could probably find a market for some of their less expensive horses down here.

It might interest you to know that horses and dogs do well down here, which is rather remarkable for the tropics. This might be due to the fact that water is plentiful and comes from pure mountain springs.

Sincerely,

Dmitri Djordjadze

your "In The Country" column of April 20.

Thursday morning we left camp at 3:00 a.m., vanned horses and hounds about six miles and cast in the dark about quarter of four. About four o'clock we heard hounds trailing off and following Stovall by dim sight and some sound we made a few of his special jumps in the dark.

At ten minutes after four they settled on this fox and ran him hard until ten minutes to six, one hour and forty minutes. We were within two hundred yards of the hounds when the cry ceased abruptly and we didn't go over there as we thought they had holed the fox. We learned later that they had caught him in the middle of the corn field. During this time I saw the fox four times, and Stovall saw him five times. He was a big yellow colored fox and at least three times we were galloping in the middle of hounds (about nine couples) and when we weren't in sight of hounds, we were galloping in cotton fields along big drainage ditches in which fox and hounds were running.

We had another short run after that and came in about eight o'clock to the usual Stovall light breakfast of strawberries, sausage, bacon, scrambled eggs, fried apples, corn cakes, honey, molasses, milk and coffee.

Sincerely,

Lowry Watkins

A Magazine of, by and for People who like Horses

We're newborn, but beginning to find our legs.

In four short months Horse has won thousands of enthusiastic readers. People who like horses are beginning to see that it is the kind of magazine they've been looking for; that it treats with equal fairness all breeds, types and uses of horses.

People like Horse, they say in letters-to-the-editor, because: "It is not just one phase of horsemanship"; "Horse is sure to fill a great need among all horsemen"; "Among your readers are the recruits for all horse sports"; "I like to learn about other phases of horse sports"; "Horse can do all horse business much good."

Regular contributors include writers like Captain V. S. Littauer, William Steinkraus, Maxine Ross, G. F. T. Ryall, John McNulty, David Hoadley Munroe, Sara Barbaresi, Fritz Stecken, Alexis Wrangel, Nancy Caffrey, Yves Benoist-Gironière, Piero Santini and others.

Horse is a monthly only in the sense that it is published once a month. Actually, much of its content will never be dated. You'll like its convenient saddlebag size. Bert Clark Thayer is its managing editor and publisher. For a limited time, Horse will accept Charter Subscriptions at only $5.00. Clip the coupon now and save one dollar under the regular one-year price.

Tryon

The 28th Annual Tryon Horse Show was held at Harmon Field. There was a tradition to be upheld. The show has never been postponed because of rain, and this year was no exception. The day was cool and partly cloudy, but no rain. A large crowd attended and were rewarded with fine performances in all of the nineteen classes, gaited horses as well as hunters and jumpers.

Major Robert Borg on his horse, Bill Biddle, gave a dressage exhibition in mid-afternoon to the delight of everyone. Frank Duffy, a member of the Olympic 3-Day Team, at the microphone, gave a description of each movement which helped the spectators to enjoy the performances.

track, coming out into the infield. He was brought back to the course by Mr. Carter Brown, but dropped further and further behind; it was learned that he had cast a shoe. Rising to the ninth fence, Norsud spied a road leading to the stables, and promptly went down it. He was finally brought back to the course by Mr. Jelke, but was so far back that he was pulled up a jump or so later.

By now, Ginny Bug and Jarrin John had started running at each other. Ginny Bug got herself first over two or three of the remaining jumps, but it was Jarrin John which was first over the last fence, with a lead which the game little appropriate ceremonies with a measuring stick resulted in the judges thanking the would-be winner for his effort and advising him that he was eligible to enter the race for 14-2 and under ponies.

This event put 16 entries in a track which is crowded with 10 starters. After a scramble of magnificent proportions, the results of the four-furlong event turned out Develle, a newcomer from Mede Cahaba Stud, near Birmingham, under one Dennis Murphy, with Margaret Ann Reed second with Maple Grove Farm's Dixie, Guill McClelland third with his Ammo, and Hugh Walpool fourth with the piebald Princess.

Probably the best of the unsanctioned events, and one which showed probably better racing than the sanctioned turf event for men was the Diana Plate, for mare was only able to cut in half to the wire.

It does help the final result of the race to speculate that, because Ginny Bug bore in at several junctures, it may have been due to the painful injuries sustained by her rider, Mr. Buder, in his fall from Port Call. Nor is there any percentage in mentioning that Ginny Bug gained ground over all her jumps, with an outstanding jumping performance. The fact remains that it was probably the best Iroquois yet.

The meeting opened with its customary mule race, with Negro riders in costume. Of the five entries, winner was Mark Vinsang with Clayton DeMoss' mule, Pat. Behind him came Mike, piloted by Robert Pratt, while the place spot was filled by Andrew Pratt with Toby.

The race for ponies 50 inches and under went, as usual, to Boyce Magli with the redoubtable Wee Biscuit; with Chico, owned by Margaret Mary Wall and ridden by Mary Vance Noel, in second; Holly Anderson with her Windy third, and Martha Weesner with her Bessie fourth. Some adjustments by judges and others was necessary before it was possible to announce results here, since a chestnut pony not at first identified had finished a half length ahead of the Biscuit, and somebody had counted more finishers than there were starters, from the paddock, at least. After suitable examination, it was found that the leading rider had declared himself in the race without resorting to entry box or paddock. Ap-ladies at catch weights, over a distance of about 6½ furlongs.

Here, most of the pace was made by Miss Carol Lord with Col. and Mrs. Brown's Dumplin Creek. She was overtaken a few strides from the wire by Miss Ann Hines, with Dick's Mon, running for George White and Ernest Hardison, Jr. In third place was Ronald Woodward's Between Us, under Mrs. Ruth Hughes, and Mrs. Jack Hinkle brought her Nichol Lane in fourth. Also-rans were Mrs. Joan Morganthau with her Black Bijili, Miss Helen Sikes with her Golden Chance and Miss Ellis Parsons

Belmont 'Chasing

Hunt's Homestake took the place (his last under Hunt's colors, as he was claimed by Sidney Barton), while third position went to Eternal Son, some seven lengths in front of Cottage Flame.

Judging by the first week of steeplechasing at Belmont, this looks like an outstanding season for the jumpers. Last year 43 jumpers paraded postward in the five jumping races during opening week. This year the number was 45, but because of restrictions on the size of fields, some horses were "thrown out" and a Preferred List for jumpers is part of the records of the Secretary's office. For the financial experts, the betting showed a big increase over last year, something like 20%.

Beyond, a daughter of Citation (from Always, by Sun Teddy) finished fast to tie Princess Turia in the one-mile preliminary to the Coaching Club American Oaks. The race is for three-year-old fillies and all carry 121 pounds.

Calumet Farm, owner and breeder of both winners, collected a total of $25,300.

Princess Turia is by *Heliopolis—Blue Delight, by Blue Larkspur.

Levee ran third and Dotted Line, fourth.

The entry was favored in the betting.

Princess Turia won the Kentucky Oaks on May 4. Beyond was getting her first slice of stakes money.

In 11 1956 starts, Princess Turia has been first 5 times, second 3 times and third once. In '55, at two, she won 1 race in 2 starts.

Beyond also has raced 11 times this year. She has won 4, been second twice and third once. She ran once and finished fourth as a two-year-old.

Conn McCreary rode Beyond; Hank Moreno was on Princess Turia.

Nance's Lad sped six furlongs down the Widener Course at Belmont on May 14 to win the 63rd running of the Toboggan Handicap. The son of Slide Rule (out of Nance's Ace, by Case Ace) beat the favored Switch On by 1 1/2 lengths. War Command and Paper Tiger got the smaller money awards.

The owner's share was $17,350.

Nance's Lad runs in the silks of his trainer and breeder, Hilton Dabson.

John Choquette, as usual, had the mount.

In winning 3 of his 4 starts this year — including the Paumonok — Nance's Lad has built up a money total of $35,200. He won 8 of 20 and $124,625 last year.

MEADOWBROOK POLO

On Saturday, May 12th, the first game was played on one of the Meadow Brook Club's new polo fields located just to the north of the Jericho Turnpike at Jericho, Long Island, New York. The polo fields consist of a single area 1200 feet by 1400 feet. This allows room for three full sized fields and at the same time provides the flexibility of being able to move fields within the area, either north and south or east and west, as desired. Thus, by alternating the use of the fields, it is anticipated that good turf can be maintained throughout the season. An underground sprinkler system has been provided throughout the area.

The use of these new polo fields at Meadow Brook ends a period of over a year during which polo at this club has been a somewhat difficult problem. During the 1955 season, The Piping Rock Club was kind enough to offer the use of its field for six or eight Sunday games. Again, Mr. Ambrose Clark allowed the Club to play on the field located in the infield of his race track in Westbury. In addition to this, several games were arranged on Sundays at the Bethpage Park. While this did provide a means of playing the game throughout the season, nevertheless, stabling and transportation was not entirely satisfactory.

Meadow Brook will shortly have available about forty box stalls and a practice area. It is expected that later in the season, a number of the annual invitation tournaments will be reinstated.

In addition to Meadow Brook, the New York area will provide polo at the Blind Brook Club at Purchase, New York, under the management of Mr. Thomas Glynn. The Bethpage Polo Club will continue its usual Sunday games.

Arena Polo will again be provided at the Huntington Polo Club, Huntington, Long Island. A pool of horses will be available for anyone wishing to play.

WHAT ABOUT POLO?

Polo is a great sport and I believe, however prejudiced, that it is the diamond of all. The coordination between man and horse, the teamwork that succeeds through long hard practice, the physical stamina and cold courage that the game demands provides a combination of electric excitement and wholesome diversion.

So much happens at once in a polo game that the casual observer can only begin to follow. It is full of action and color — a constant and rapid horse race from the beginning to the end of each period, the aggressive fever and body contact that is football, the teamwork and position play that is hockey, yet the smoothness and coordination that belong only to the champions. To produce a high-goal player requires 20 to 25 years and only a few reach the top of the ladder.

It is easily understandable therefore, why polo, more than any other sport, completely captivates the imagination of those who take part in it. — Jack Ivory

POLO CROWDS—Despite intense 90 degrees, crowds turned out to watch U. S. Polo Association 20-Goal matches. Most responsive audience was Milwaukee's when finals were played.

COMEDY AT NORTH PARK RIDING CLUB

One of the highlights of the recent North Park Riding Club Horse Show was a class called Spin the Rider. Each rider had to lean over holding a bottle to the ground and he was spun by two men for at least eight turns. Then he was sent after his horse which was several feet away, and had to ride down to the far end of the ring and back. Not one rider was able to walk straight to his horse and one contestant was so dizzy that he crawled to his horse and when he got on immediately fell off. — C. B. B.

SEMI-HORSE TALE

"There is an American woman who lives in the town of Santa Eulalia Del Rio in The Balearic Island of Ibiza. She speaks faultlessly grammatical Spanish but with a riotous American accent, apparent to even one who just speaks un pocito (me). I first saw Errol one afternoon as she was riding by in a typically native cart pulled by a great horse with a limp, accompanied by her gardener. A friend then explained this eccentric woman who fell in love with Ibiza. She has been building a house for the past two years and hasn't even any plumbing facilities yet, but she and her workman have completed a great, gigantic tower on a high hill that can be seen from everywhere. It's for her horse that she

TO PAINT NOODLE SOUP

Eve Prime (Mrs. Paul Fout) flew from her Virginia home to Ocala, Florida on May 15th. Her mission was to do an oil painting of the noted broodmare Noodle Soup, the dam of the brilliant Kentucky Derby winner Needles. Mrs. Fout, well known in hunting and racing circles, was impressed with the accommodations available at the Ocala Stud Farms for the breaking and training of yearlings and for conditioning of race horses.

ROSE TREE RAMBLINGS

Serving as Clerk of the Course for the 97th annual spring meeting of the Rose Tree Fox Hunting Club, T. Hollingsworth Andrews, 3rd, is well equipped for the job. Currently a resident of Princeton, N. J., "Worth" was raised in the attractive colonial house facing the grandstand on the course and he has not missed a single session of racing at Rose Tree for 40 years. This should give the popular member of the race committee some sort of record when Rose Tree celebrates its centennial year of racing in 1959. . . . It was learned from trainer David Dallas Odell, that Arthur E. Pew, Jr.'s "Fiery Torch" sustained 2 broken ribs from being kicked at the starting post when lining up for his effort in the 35th running of the National Hunt Cup at Radnor. This naturally did not aid the gelding's attempt to retire the challenge trophy for his Bryn Mawr, Pa., owner. . . . The stretch run displayed by Morris H. Dixon's French-bred "Palaja" in the Rose Tree Plate indicates that this veteran chaser is far from the point of being turned out to pasture. The 10-year-old looks better than he has for some years and should repay the time and attention spent on him by the popular Newtown Square, Pa., conditioner.

IN THE PADDOCK AT THE IROQUOIS

PALM BEACH POLO AND HUNT CLUB

The Palm Beach Polo and Hunt Club opened the '56 Summer Sunshine Circuit with a weekend of fun at their attractive grounds on Military Trail and Dillman Road. To start off activities a field of 20 participated in a drag hunt the afternoon of April 13 in the sandy, pine wooded country very similar to Southern Pines. On Saturday a day long schedule of horse events was held on the south end of the Polo Club's International Field. That evening, an excellent dinner dance where presentations were made to the championship riders and horses, topped off the horse show schedule. As a finale to this grand three days of horse entertainment, all exhibitors were guests of honor at the last polo game of the season where Palm Beach, led by Major Collin and Jules "Tiger" Rimfh defeated Blind Brook 3-2.

Special credit for this weekend goes to Major and Mrs. Frederick C. Collin, owners of the Palm Beach Polo and Hunt Club and co-chairmen of the show. Their hospitality and good sportsmanship has created a new interest in polo, showing and hunting in the state of Florida.

THE MAIDEN ALLOWANCE

Captain J. L. B. Bentley was overheard at the Richmond Race meet, saying that he didn't mind if Gillian didn't win the Deep Run Hunt Cup since that would result in the loss of her maiden allowance. The mare might need that allowance in the last mile of the four mile Virginia Gold Cup. When the day came neither

POLO ISSUE COVER

An account of polo activities at Cowdray Park, the painting of which by Lionel Edwards appears on our cover, appears elsewhere in this issue. The picture is one of a series commissioned by Lord Cowdray and speaks eloquently for itself. The work of Mr. Edwards, one of England's great landscape as well as sporting painters, is so thoroughly familiar to our readers as to require no special comment.
